U.S. Views Fishing Port as Naval Base Cover

Canal Zone Threat Is Apparent

Could Pinch Off Key Ship Routes

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. defense sources said today they believe the port to be built in Cuba with Soviet assistance is a camouflage for a naval base which could threaten the Panama Canal.

They said a port equipped to overhaul, repair, and supply Soviet and Cuban trawlers could also serve as a support base for submarines and torpedo boats.

Location Not Specified

Prime Minister Fidel Castro unveiled the plans for a port in a television speech Tuesday. He didn't specify the location but a later communique announcing signing of the Soviet-Cuban agreement said the dock and facilities for between 115 and 130 medium trawlers would be in Havana Bay.

It was reported in Havana that Soviet crews would instruct Cubans in the use of Soviet trawlers and that the fleet ultimately would become the property of Cuba.

Many of the Soviet Union's 3,000 trawlers are anything but purely fishing craft. They are known to carry radar and other electronic equipment with which they have monitored U.S. missile test shots from Cape Canaveral, Fla., and have observed U.S. fleet maneuvers.

See Part of Red Plan

The small flotilla of Soviet trawlers which arrived in Havana last summer is equipped with electronic detection equipment.

Some military authorities said construction of a Soviet port in Cuba appears part of a worldwide plan to position Soviet naval power where it could pinch off key Allied shipping routes.

Hail Fidel Pact, Denies Russians Will Control Port

HAVANA (AP) — Cuban propagandists hailed today Prime Minister Fidel Castro's pact with the Soviet Union calling for building a fishing port for Russian trawlers in Havana Bay.

Castro announced the pact Tuesday, saying the Russians would furnish credits for building large docking and freezing facilities. He said the Soviet trawler fleet would have use of the facilities for at least 10 years.

Joint Maneuver

Castro said in a television address the port facilities would provide headquarters for a joint Cuban-Soviet Atlantic fishing fleet. Some Soviet trawlers arrived last summer and Castro reported then they would be turned over to the Cubans.

A Cuban commentator on a nationwide television broadcast declared the facilities would be "a Cuban port and Cuban property." He ridiculed reports he said were circulating in Miami that Russians would control the port.

The commentator praised the Soviet Union for extending credits to finance more than half the cost of the 72-million peso project.

He said this contrasted with the trade policy of the United States before Castro came to power. He asserted the United States then was interested only in buying Cuban sugar and tobacco and tried to choke off Cuban rice

Action Completed For State Aid on City Sewage Plant

The Common Council at a special meeting Tuesday night adopted a resolution which must be forwarded to Albany not later than Oct. 1 to gain the city a third in costs in state aid for operation and maintenance of its sewage treatment plant over a 10-year period.

The city expends, it was noted, some $70,000 annually for sewage disposal. It will gain the state aid during each of 10 successive years starting as of June 1, this year or thereafter. The legislation provided for an advance estimate of operational and maintenance costs to be made in compliance with provisions of a state law. It is to be forwarded to the State Commissioner of Health.

The special meeting was called by Mayor John J. Schwenk.

BRIDGE MOVES ACROSS ESOPUS—Well on its way to the Washington Avenue viaduct side of the Esopus Creek at the end of Tuesday's work day, the bailey bridge being built to replace the 38-year-old span which collapsed Aug. 28, was due to be in place today. An engineer said it could be completed and possibly ready for traffic by Friday. Meanwhile the Citizens Temporary Bridge Committee, headed by Chairman Robert Teetsel, will meet Thursday at 8 p. m. in Lake Katrine Grange Hall, with the Town Board of the Town of Ulster and representatives of the Board of Supervisors Bridge and Highway Committee. Charles Arnold, assistant director of Civil Defense, and Mayor John J. Schwenk have been invited to attend. Since the bridge connects the City of Kingston and the Town of Ulster at the foot of Washington Avenue, both the city and town will be involved in maintaining traffic over the one-way temporary bridge. Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson informed the committee today that the County Highway Committee would be represented at the meeting.

Democrats Bury Hatchet Tuesday At Party Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — A peace treaty marking the official end of the battle of Syracuse took effect among New York State Democrats today.

Robert M. Morgenthau, who won the party nomination for governor in the all-out struggle, and Queens Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor, who lost it, buried the hatchet Tuesday night at a rally marking the formal opening of the Democrats' statewide campaign to defeat Republican Gov. Rockefeller in the Nov. 6 election.

The nomination battle was waged at the party convention in Syracuse last week.

Sponsored by Nassau

The demonstration of unity was held in Garden City on Long Island at a meeting of the Nassau County Democratic Committee, spearhead of the anti-Morgenthau and pro-O'Connor movement.

Nassau County Democratic Chairman John F. English, who had led the O'Connor forces, arranged the meeting.

O'Connor introduced Morgenthau as "a fighting Democrat" who would campaign in "the great traditions of the party."

Morgenthau paid tribute to O'Connor and English as "a great fight-team."

The amenities over, Morgenthau turned to what has so far been his chief argument against Rockefeller — that the state's economy has lagged under four years of Republican rule and that strong medicine, such as sharply increased state aid to education on all levels, is sorely needed.

Morgenthau was cheered and applauded by the crowd, estimated by English at 1,500.

Tours Upstate Cities

Morgenthau toured the Upstate cities of Schenectady, Amsterdam, Johnstown and Gloversville Tuesday. He held that the employment problems in each had stemmed from policies of the Rockefeller administration.

Morgenthau has charged that the governor has failed to take advantage of federal programs to help economically depressed areas.

The Democratic nominee restated at a news conference Tuesday

Water Level Dropping at Cooper Lake

Kingston, with its Cooper Lake water supply down 12.6 feet, as of this date, will be required to take emergency action next month as it did in October, 1957, if the drought continues and the reserve goes down as far as it did in that year, Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, said today.

Cooper Lake was down 14.9 feet on Oct. 1, 1957, when it was announced that the city planned to buy water from New York City. The supply had dropped from 11.50 feet in early September to nearly 15 feet in early October. It had reached 17.5 on Oct. 24 before replenishing rains came and the city was not required to take the water it had prepared to drain from the Ashokan Reservoir.

More Rain Needed

Tuesday's rain left only .18 of an inch in the watershed supplying Cooper Lake. Its supply will continue diminishing unless heavier rains come.

The city, in 1957 obtained the pipe needed for tapping the Ashokan from the civil defense stockpile at Wingdale, Dutchess County, and if the reservoir supply continues going down it will be required to take similiar action soon.

Pipe was laid for some two miles between the east end of the Ashokan at West Hurley and the city's Reservoir No. 4 in the Zena area. The pipe, some 250,000 pounds of it was trucked back to Wingdale early in 1958.

Meters a Help

Installation of meters, covering all water service since the 1957 drought, will permit more time before the start of emergency action than it did in that year. On Sept. 4, 1957 before restrictions on the use of water were announced, the city used 6,932,000 gallons of water. After restrictions it was cut to 3,557,000 gallons. Superintendent Cloonan today reported 3.68 million gallons drawn from Cooper Lake. No request has been made, to date, for restricted use, and the meters appear to be serving their purpose.

The Cooper Lake supply went down nearly a foot in one week.

Supervisors Will Discuss County Building on Friday

A new Ulster County office building will be discussed by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors at a special meeting Friday at 8 p. m.

Chairman Jesse McHugh (R) Town of Shawangunk has called a special meeting for the purpose of discussing plans for a new county building. The meeting will be held at the Court House.

At the last meeting, Thursday Sept. 13, the County Building Committee made a report in which it was stated the committee had been continuing its work in connection with the proposed county office building and recommended that the Board of Supervisors "designate a site, pass the necessary financial resolution, select an architect and authorize the architect to proceed with the preparation of plans and specifications for the construction of a county office building in accordance with instructions by this committee."

On the agenda for the meeting was listed a resolution regarding "site for county office building." The resolution was withdrawn and no action taken.

Prior to adjournment it was suggested that a meeting be called at which time the mat-

Estes Gets Four Weeks Delay in Date With Jury

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—It will be at least another four weeks before Billie Sol Estes, onetime tycoon of farm finance, goes before a jury on criminal charges.

Acting on a defense motion, Dist. Judge Otis T. Dunagan postponed the trial Tuesday until Oct. 22.

Means Lag for Probe

Estes' lawyers contended that too many major witnesses were not available. They said 28 of 75 persons sought to testify for the bankrupt West Texas promoter had not been subpoenaed or could not appear.

The delay means a corresponding lag in efforts by the U.S. Senate investigations subcommittee to question Estes about multi-million-dollar dealings with the Agriculture Department. The subcommittee has agreed to a state request to defer the appearance of Estes until after the trial.

The trial of Estes on charges of swindling and theft was transferred here from Pecos, his home town, after efforts to obtain an unbiased jury failed three months ago.

Faces Other Charges

Four indictments accuse Estes of manipulating mortgages on nonexistent chemical fertilizer tanks to obtain $378,370.

Estes also faces trial on federal charges of mail fraud and conspiracy. Three former business associates have pleaded guilty to the charges and been sentenced to prison terms.

17 Taken From Ship By Copters

Celerina Steaming To Antwerp Port

CORK, Ireland (AP)—Two British helicopters plucked 17 injured survivors of a ditched American airliner off the Swiss rescue ship Celerina today for hospitalization at a U.S. Air Force base in Britain.

The 9,041-ton freighter, still carrying 27 others it rescued after a Flying Tiger Super Constellation plunged into the white-capped Atlantic with 76 persons Sunday night, headed on to Antwerp, Belgium, its next port of call.

Fuel Delays Carrier

The U.S. Army in Europe prepared to send medical and other aid to Antwerp for the group. American service men and their wives, whose flight from the United States ended with a forced landing in the sea 500 miles west of Ireland.

The Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure, which is bearing four other survivors, radioed that it expects to reach the Shannon River estuary about 9 a.m. Thursday. The carrier originally planned to arrive late today, but said it was running low on fuel and had to reduce speed.

Of the 76 aboard the plane, 28 were dead or missing and presumed drowned. Twelve bodies have been recovered. The search for further survivors was called off Tuesday night.

Hazardous Operation

Many of those who lived through the ditching were suffering from chemical burns, a skin inflamation caused by contact with gasoline which spilled into the sea when the plane was wrenched apart. There was no fire.

The Celerina had radioed that some of the 44 persons it picked up needed to be taken to shore hospitals quickly.

The hazardous air-sea operation by the two Royal Air Force helicopters centered 30 miles off the Irish coast.

The bright yellow copters hovered 30 feet above the freighter —which pitched in a heavy swell and 30-mile-an-hour wind—while the injured were winched off the deck and up into the flying ambulances.

'Bloody Wonderful'

Three of the injured were strapped to stretchers.

I watched the aerial rescue operation from a chartered plane. Commented our pilot, Charles Angles: "It's bloody wonderful. I never saw anything more skillful."

The helicopters made two round trips apiece to the Celerina. Waiting at the Cork dockside were ambulances, doctors and a police escort.

Most of those brought ashore appeared to be suffering from leg injuries.

One of them, Sgt. Ralph E. Bates of Wurtland, Ky., said: "I

$45,238,599 Possible for 15 Counties

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some 30 projects in 15 New York counties would be eligible for construction under the $900 million emergency public works bill now awaiting President Kennedy's signature.

Orange County is on the list with $830,000 marked for an incinerator at Newburgh.

The Community Facilities Administration says that the total cost of the projects—already in some stage of planning—would be $45,238,599.

Priority Stipulated

That does not mean, however, that all 30 projects would be built under the program. Areas with the heaviest unemployment would receive priority for projects.

Erie County would be eligible for seven projects followed by St. Lawrence County with four and Chemung County with three. The most expensive job would be a proposed $7,507,500 sewer system in Chemung County.

List of Projects

Here is a breakdown of projects by counties with their total cost:

Chautauqua (2) — administration building, Jamestown, $2,863,500, and airport, Jamestown, $1,600,000.

Chemung (3) — sewer system, $7,507,500; water system, Horseheads, $232,740, and storm drains, Southport, $1,577,000.

Clinton (1) — water system, Plattsburgh, $435,000.

Dutchess (2)—incinerator, Beacon, $523,250, and sewers, Beacon, $1,52,000.

Erie (7) — water systems, $3,250,000 and $796,000; sewer systems, $2,685,550, $4,000,000; $2,510,000 and $1,600,.

Essex (1) — sewer, Westport, $543,70.

Conferees Clear Tax Measure for Solons, Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A half-a-loaf tax bill, giving President Kennedy the business-boosting change he recommended but less than the counterbalancing revenue he asked, was ready today for Congress and the White House to consider.

There was every indication the House, the Senate and the President would accept the measure. It was hammered out in four days of work, running into Tuesday night, by a conference committee charged with reconciling the different bills passed by the two chambers. The House will act first, one day next week.

Investment Credit Kept

The heart of the measure, a tax credit of more than $1 billion for businesses willing to spend money on modernizing and improving their equipment, was retained. The administration has earnestly pleaded for this investment credit, designed as a quick shot in the arm for the U.S. economy and, in the long pull, as a means of help-

State Approval Seen Formality by Trustees

Tests for Water, Engineering Matters Come Next; Opening Anticipated in '65

The 85-acre Leggett-Van Winkle-Davenport site at Stone Ridge has been unanimously selected by the Board of Trustees for the permanent site of the Ulster County Community College. Selection was made at a meeting held Monday night in a conference room at the local IBM plant.

Selection of the Stone Ridge site came after several ballots had been cast and was ultimately the unanimous choice of the trustees.

New Chairman

FABIAN L. RUSSELL

The next step will be certification to State University of the trustees action, which is subject to the approval of the State University. The site is one which was inspected on September 11 by the trustees and Dean Paul B. Orvis, of the State University of New York, and approval by the State University is expected to be a mere formality. There will be no cost to the county for the land.

Mrs. Francis H. Leggett is donating 35 acres, 24 acres are being donated by Thomas Davenport and a 26-acre tract of land owned by Mrs. Margaret Van Winkle was acquired for $13,000 a few days ago by a "citizens group" in the Stone Ridge area and is being donated by that group to the trustees.

Test Borings Next

With the site now selected by the Board of Trustees, subject to State approval, the next step will be to have test borings made to determine water supply, sewage disposal, drainage and other engineering requirements. Next will come engagement of an architect, site development and plans for college buildings and erection of the buildings.

It is expected this will take two years, with the target date for opening the new college buildings set for September 1965.

Meanwhile the Ulster County Community College will occupy temporary quarters in the old Ulster Academy building on West Chestnut Street, which has been offered by the Kingston Board of Education as temporary quarters.

Plans now call for opening the college at the temporary site in September 1963, and occupancy of that building as a temporary site for two years during which the permanent college buildings will be under construction.

It is expected engineering operations at the Stone Ridge site will begin within a few days after State approval has been obtained.

Study for Matching Funds

The site will be inspected by the State, appraisal will be made as to the value of the property and upon this appraisal will be based the matching funds which the State will contribute.

Dr. Dale B. Lake of Amityville, L. I., who was selected on September 14, as president of the Ulster County Community College, is expected to be in Kingston within the next two weeks and spend a weekend in conference with the trustees and getting the feeling and background of the community. Dr. Lake will be in Kingston about November 1, to assist in securing faculty members, discussing curriculum and preparation of a budget.

Other Sites Inspected

Prior to selection of the Stone Ridge site, the trustees discussed the advantages of three sites which had been under serious consideration. Present at the session were Brinnier & Larios, engineers, who had made inspections and surveys of the sites relative to roads, type of drainage, cost development and other problems and Harry F. Edinger, director of environmental sanitation, Ulster County Health Department, who discussed water

Troop Use Looms To Back Courts On Desegregation

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—With the possibility mounting that federal troops will be used to enforce court desegregation edicts, Negro James H. Meredith plans to try today for the third time to enroll at the white University of Mississippi.

Gov. Ross Barnett—who has twice defied federal orders in refusing to let Meredith enroll at Ole Miss—was expected to fly to the campus at Oxford and attempt to block the 29-year-old Korean war veteran's admission.

Must Appear Friday

Barnett refused to allow Meredith to register with the State Collete Board at Jackson Tuesday. Four hours later the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals directed the 64-year-old governor to appear in court in New Orleans Friday to face contempt charges.

Ole Miss registrar Robert B. Ellis said he would be in his office to register Meredith if he appeared.

Ellis said he would act under direct orders from the State College Board and federal courts.

Barnett repeatedly has vowed to go to jail rather than desegregate the university where he received his law degree with honors. He has also threatened to close Ole Miss.

A source close to the Appeals Court in New Orleans said it appeared federal troops would be necessary to enforce the judicial decrees.

Determined on Meredith

"The court has gone as far as it can go," said the source.

Troops from the 101st Airborne Division were ordered into Little Rock, Ark., to enforce court-directed public school desegregation there in 1957. The federal action came after Gov. Orval E. Faubus called out the Arkansas National Guard to prevent nine Negroes from enrolling at Little Rock Central High School.

Multi-Colored Water Irking Ulster Wives

Two irritated Ulster Water District housewives, claiming to be unhappy over the problem of multi-colored water flowing through the water lines, voiced similar complaints this morning and said that pressure will probably be brought to bear on the Ulster Town Board to correct the situation.

Mrs. Hazel Castle, Neighborhood Road, Lake Katrine and Mrs. Lloyd Eyler, County Lane, Lake Katrine said that colored water was flowing from their faucets this morning. Mrs. Elyer called it a reddish pink and Mrs. Castle said it was purple around 7 a. m.

Both women said that when the colored water was forthcoming, there was no water for drinking, cooking or sanitary purposes. Mrs. Eyler claims that many pieces of clothing, stained from being washed in the water, are now unwearable.

Mrs. Castle claims that one day last week the water was purple and that she recalled a day when it was brown and another when orange colored water flowed from the faucets. According to her, the situation has prevailed for approximately eight months.

Mrs. Eyler said that a citizens' group similar to the Citizens' Committee for a Temporary Bridge over the Esopus Creek would probably be organized.

Both women claim that the situation is due mostly to faulty equipment in the Ulster Water District's pump house and that town officials have been elusive in giving answers to remedying the problem. One of the women claimed that the Town Board has not appropriated Town Supervisor Alexander J. Banyo with funds adequate to correct the maintenance problems.

Supervisor Banyo said Tuesday that the problem was due mainly to a low supply of water in the district and that corrective steps have been ordered. He said today that enough money has been appropriated to have financed any recommendations from the Ulster County Board of Health or the Town of Ulster engineers and that when these recommendations were forthcoming, they were followed.

He further said that the equipment in the pump house overall is not in bad shape and that any items rendered inadequate by normal wear and tear have been or will be replaced.

600 Dead or Missing After Storms Hit Barcelona Area

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — Flash floods and hurricane winds ripped overnight through a group of villages in a hilly region near Barcelona and a government spokesman said more than 600 persons are dead or missing.

The spokesman said 246 bodies have been recovered and 395 persons are unaccounted for.

Fresh thunderstorms continued across the area, where several hours of heavy rain and high winds smashed many homes and other buildings.

Officials said the death toll might rise.

Several villages, whose residents normally worked in textile plants near Barcelona, were almost wiped out by the floods, which followed months of dry weather.

The floods struck a few hours after the windup of a Barcelona religious festival, named Nuestra Senora de la Merced—Our Lady of Mercy—which runs for a week each fall. The event had included a song festival with entrants from many nations.

The victims included families who were sleeping. Their houses caved in and trapped them under the debris.

Barcelona was caught in a torrential downpour which quickly

Phone Co. Buying Rosendale Land For New Building

It was confirmed this morning that negotiations by American Telephone and Telegraph Company were underway for a piece of the Spindler property in the Town of Rosendale.

James J. Kohut, manager of the Kingston branch of the New York Telephone Company said that AT&T had purchased property on the northeast corner of the Old Kingston-Rosendale Road (Route 32) and LeFever Falls Road. New York Telephone Company is a subsidiary of AT&T.

Kohut said that the telephone company plans to construct an approximate 100x160 foot building on the property for the purpose of housing crossbar switching equipment.

Muscovites Getting Clothes Out of Hock Now for Winter

MOSCOW (AP) — The central heating came on in Moscow this week and Muscovites began redeeming their winter coats at the state hockshops.

The masses of pedestrians were back in their drab topcoats and raincoats soaking up the last weak rays of autumn sunlight that occasionally broke through between chilling rain storms.

Daytime temperatures are nippy and nights are cold. The first snowfall is just a few weeks away. From then on, the ground will be covered almost daily with a new blanket of snow.

State employes and workers, fresh from month-long vacations, began gathering enough cash to get their winter clothes out of hock. This is a common practice in the Soviet Union, the only Communist country to preserve that old capitalist institution, the pawn broker. They are called "Lombardi," after usurers of medieval Italy.

Russians who need cash for vacations and lack room in their cramped living quarters to store winter things usually show up at one of Moscow's five hockshops in early summer.

For a nominal interest charge, clothes are stored for the winter. The only worry is getting up the cash to buy them back before winter sets in.

Some folks are shopping for fur hats—a must for Russian winters. The style has moved away from the traditional peasant's shapka with the earflaps to a jaunty high-crowned number copied from the Swedes.

Old - fashioned valenki (Felt boots) also are disappearing. The women are wearing leather ankle-high shoes with felt inner linings. The most stylish ones, at 35 rubles — about $39—are imported, mainly from Czechoslovakia.

The males are turning to ordinary rubbers over their shoes or to rubber storm boots and galoshes, derisively called "farewell-to-youths" by the younger set.

Housewives in the cities soon will be washing their windows for the last time before stuffing up the cracks with cotton or pasting paper strips over loose-fitting frames. This annual ritual is dictated by the Russian dread of winter drafts. Shoes will hang up heavy curtains over doorways.

NEW SUMMONS—Harold E. Macholdt (right), former magistrate in the Town of Ulster, who was this month elected a member of the executive committee of the New York State Association of Magistrates, at the group's 53rd annual conference, is shown discussing with State Motor Vehicle Commissioner William S. Hults, a new standardized traffic summons which goes into effect in most parts of this state on October 1. Macholdt was a leader in the arrangements for the magistrates' conference which brought close to 400 jurists to the Concord Hotel at Kiamesha Lake. (Gil Ross photo)

WWI Vets to Meet Next Monday Night

The regular monthly meeting of the Ulster Barracks 864, Veterans of World War 1 of the U.S.A. Inc., will be held Monday, Oct. 1, at 8 p. m. at the VFW Home, 552 Delaware Avenue.

Commander Frank N. Millefiori said that he was pleased with the number of veterans in Ulster County who became members of the organization at the last monthly meeting.

More and more World War I veterans," Millefiori said, "are taking a deep interest in their organization, especially when it is realized that these veterans are holding the place of honors held for years by Civil and Spanish American War veterans."

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) —Wanted: Some really good news. That's what many businessmen are hoping for as the fall season gets under way.

Most Americans aren't conditioned to plateau living. Whether businessmen, stockholders, workers, consumers, they tend to grow restive when times are good but aren't getting noticeably better, or at least not as fast as they'd like.

Hoping For Climb

Through the summer good and bad business news about canceled each other out. In general, the balance sheet crept to the higher side. But impatient Americans are hoping it'll start a stronger climb with a boost from the usual fall revival of trade and industry. A few still hold to the view that the economy will turn down instead.

The figures show business lolling on its plateau—a high one, and in some respects a record high one.

A really good piece of news—domestic or foreign, economic or political—might set off the enthusiasm that the economy lacks now.

A good reception of the new car models might help. Detroit talks hopefully of a big year. At least, it thinks dollar volume will be good because it expects less emphasis on the compacts and more on the higher-priced models.

Tax Cut Indefinite

Some business and government economists base their hopes for greater vigor in the economy on tax cuts. They say these would stimulate consumer buying and business spending for capital goods, starting a spiral that would mean more activity all around.

But the tax cuts aren't scheduled to come until 1963. And in what form, or in what amounts, remains in the realm of conjecture. What will the administration ask? What will the new Congress vote?

Still, some really good news, from whatever direction it may appear, and whether foreseen or unexpected, might do a lot just now to move the economy up from the plateau on which it seems to have settled.

SUBURBAN ISOLATION

All of us make a great deal of the mobility of the American people. But there is more than one face to this coin.

It is true that about a fifth of the U.S. population changes its residence every year. It is also true that millions of Americans travel about in their own country and, increasingly, in foreign lands.

Yet there are still many millions who do little or no moving. And among those who do get about, the patterns sometimes are very curious.

The poor, especially the foreign-born poor clustered in the great cities, have been notoriously immobile. Sociologists used to point out that in such a city as Chicago there were thousands of persons who lived out their lives and never saw Lake Michigan—a bare four or five miles from their neighborhood.

Children born in sections eight or 10 miles from downtown Chicago often were 16 or 18 before they ever saw downtown. Frequently they never rode a streetcar or a suburban train until that age.

Now comes author Peter Wyden in his book, "Suburbia's Coddled Kids," to point out that the present pattern of suburban life is having something of the same effect.

His book, of course, is an assault on the "isolation" of suburban youngsters from many of the broad currents of modern life—particularly those found in the great central cores of our cities.

In support of that theme, he quotes a suburban grade school guidance director as estimating, on the basis of long-term inquiry among her students, that no more than 30 per cent of the children had ever visited Chicago's Loop area.

And here is the curious twist—many, many more of these kids have made plane trips to Arizona and Florida than have seen downtown Chicago.

It is a fair assumption that what this guidance director has observed in her school is quite common to suburban living around the nation. In countless families, the mothers volunteer that they, too, seldom make it to the city.

Wyden's objection to this pattern—and he is far from alone in this judgment—is that it makes for a narrow, test-tube sort of existence which does not prepare youngsters and even some of their parents for the realities.

The argument is plain enough. In too many suburban communities in cities large and small, the people see only people like themselves. Their economic levels, their social strata, their habits and foibles, all these tend to be roughly similar.

Suburban youngsters, who now constitute 28 per cent of all U.S children, seldom see the really poor, or the troubled minority groups. Nor do they participate in the lively cultural currents of the established center. They are sheltered from all but their own limited sphere of problems.

Yet the day is coming when a high proportion of the nation's voters will live in suburban territory. Virtually all of the 90 million increase in U.S. population expected in the next two decades will occur in the suburbs. At least in theory, the voter is expected to have solidly founded judgments on all the great problems.

The separateness of suburban existence is perhaps its most attractive aspect. Yet those who pursue it must learn to take extreme care not to separate themselves from the life which goes on elsewhere in this country.

A MASTER SPY

Who was the late William W. Corcoran? Though unknown to all but a few, he may have been one of our most useful citizens.

Corcoran was a veteran member of the foreign service. He received in 1947 the Medal of Freedom, the highest civilian honor, for having obtained information that made possible the bombing of Germany's V-2 rocket bases at Peenemunde. Late as the V-2 was in developing, had it gone undinavian Refugee Organizations Award for saving the lives of many fugitives from Nazi persecution. Few men in our time have altered the course of history as greatly, and to such good purpose, as he did.

checked it might well have put Great Britain out of the war.

Corcoran performed other valuable feats of espionage. He guided Allied bombers to Hamburg's submarine retreats and other vital targets. He turned up Joachim von Ribbontrop, Hitler's missing foreign minister, who, thanks to Corcoran's efforts, was hanged.

ALLIES AND NEUTRALS

It has been American foreign policy since the end of World War II to show preference to neutrals over our Allies. We have even preferred former enemies such as the Germans and the Japanese to our Allies.

This policy arises from a doctrinaire concept of the equality of man, the equality of nations, the self-determination of peoples. It did not originate with Franklin D. Roosevelt; it is the basis of the Declaration of Independence.

It is this policy which destroyed the British, French and Dutch Empires. India became independent and neutral; French Indo-China was cut up into two Viet-Nams, Laos and Cambodia and is either part of the Soviet bloc or neutral; the Dutch East Indies became Indonesia under the leadership of Sukarno who is allied to Soviet Russia; France lost Algeria, and many African countries, like the Congo, became independent. Actually, much of the world was thrown into a chaos by premature independence. Those who favor this trend ask, when is not independence premature?

The principal sufferers from this American doctrine were not the enemy, Soviet Russia, or our foes in World War II, Germany and Japan, but our principal allies, Great Britain, France and Holland. Meanwhile, Soviet Russia has been Empire-building in Asia, Europe and the Caribbean.

In a word, up to now, this policy has been a failure. Nevertheless, the United States will continue to pursue it on the assumption that the future of the world lies with the Afro-Asian nations. The Castro Revolution in Cuba must have some effect on our policy. President Kennedy himself declared it to be Communist since 1958 although the State Department issued a fictitious White Paper in 1961 denying its Communist character.

The European nations have countered our policy by the organization of the Common Market which may develop into a United Western Europe of perhaps 200,000,000 people. The growth of the Common Market and the Franco-German Alliance may alter the politics of the world, producing a Third Power that could offset the eleemosynary politics of the United States and the Empire building of Soviet Russia.

Much of Africa is still French-speaking. France has never adopted a racial attitude, adhering to the slogan of the French Revolution, namely Liberty, Equality, Fraternity. The French do not resist intermarriage, and although many of the new nations of Africa were once French colonies, they naturally look to France for their culture and trade. Similarly, although in many colonies, there has been opposition to British manners and attitudes, English remains the lingua franca of those peoples.

As the Common Market develops politically, it will seek strength in the former colonies and although it may fail in some, it will make enormous progress in others. West Germany has a thriving export trade throughout the world.

The principal factors against the United States are first, high prices for our goods which make them unacceptable, in many instances, even for the countries we assist and secondly, the racial conflict within the United States. Prices in the United States are affected by the high cost of labor and high taxes. While all these costs are matters of domestic determination, basic prices are fixed internationally. Thus, as the Common Market grows, we shall find it increasingly difficult to hold that 7 to 10 per cent of our economy from foreign trade.

As to the racial question, it is not something that can be handled by an ukaze from the Federal Government. Much American history has gone into the racial question and while some progress has been made in improving racial relations, it has been slow.

But is is much more complex than either the American Nego or the racist in the South and West is willing to admit. The dilemma is that if the Federal Government intervenes too violently in this situation, States Rights will be violated beyond repair. On the other hand, if the racial conflict continues, it means that the Afro-Asian nations, which we brought into existence, will be our permanent opponents and will support the Russian position. This dilemma is not readily resolved because supporting the racist position is three centuries of American history; supporting the Afro-Asian position is a long history of declarations on equality beginning perhaps with the Declaration of Independence, continuing through Wilson's Fourteen Points, running through the Roosevelt, Truman, Eisenhower and Kennedy Administrations.

★ The Doctor Says ★

Germs, Like Garden Seed Need Proper Soil to Flourish

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Bacteria cultures were taken from the noses and throats of 75 perfectly healthy wives and husbands in a recent study made by Dr. H. S. Harvey and Miss Marjorie Dunlap of Boston University. When the results were matched, couple by couple, some very unexpected findings came to light.

Hemolytic streptococci, of the disease-producing type, were present in one or other of the marital partners in 36 instances. But, in only 12 cases was the germ present in both.

Influenza bacilli were present in one or other of the partners in 67 instances. And, in 51 cases, in both.

Like many important studies, this investigation raises more problems than it solves. For instance, how is it that these persons maintained their health with a menagerie of bacilli lurking in their mouths and noses? How is it that some partners failed to "catch" the strep from the spouse?

And, if hemolytic strep can be grown from the nose or throat of almost half the population, how much significance is to be attached to a positive strep culture taken from the throat of someone who is ill with an inflammatory condition in this area?

The answers to some of these questions will be apparent to any experienced gardener. It takes more than just the seed to obtain growth. You have to have the right soil.

Presumably, the partner that didn't "catch" the spouse's particular brand of strep did not provide growing conditions.

Perhaps, too, the reason strep carriers remained healthy was the refusal of their tissues to permit bacilli to establish a beachhead. If they had opened the door so much as a crack, germs might have gained entrance just as they do when there's the slightest break in the surface of a tomato.

At that point, your doctor takes over from the laboratory technician. He can assume the guilt of the microbe, sentence it to death by antibiotic and carry out the sentence.

"In Cuba They Call Us Technicians"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)-Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver and a staff of six assistants got right down to the native living levels on their six weeks inspection trip to six Southeast Asia countries.

At one Peace Corps mission post in northern Thailand there was no airport and the party had to go in by helicopter, landing on the soccor field. Shriver and his inspectors split up to spend the night in native houses where Peace Corps teachers boarded and roomed like country teachers, eating the family fare.

The houses had thatched roofs, split bamboo walls and floors, grass matting stretched on a frame of beds. When Shriver took off his trousers and hung them up before retiring, the loose coins fell out of his pocket and disappeared through the cracks in the floor.

"PEACE CORPSMEN resent the idea that they're making sacrifices when they live like this," says Shirver.

"When we have had to build additional housing for our Peace Corps people in Malaya or other countries," says Shriver, "we haven't built American houses with all the conveniences. We've built more native houses and we live like equals.

"The greatest triumph of the Peace Corps is that our people are not looked on as foreigners. They become part of native government."

In the Philippines, Shriver found a Peace Corps girl teacher from Atlanta who was eating a mixture of corn and beans—the food of the poor who can't afford rice.

"They wouldn't let me eat the corn and beans when I first came," the young woman told Shriver. "They said it wasn't good enough for me. So I went to market, bought some and cooked it. It was just like the grits I was brought up on in Georgia."

Shriver discovered a new food when he was inspecting a Peace Corps mission on the island of Panay. It was a sticky rice cake, dried and baked in the sun on a banana leaf. "If you had one back here, with a Martini," says Shriver, "you'd think it out of this world."

SHRIVER TOLD Philippines President Diosdado Macapagal about his discovery later. The Filipino deputy foreign minister who was present said he had never heard of it. "The trouble with you," said the President, "is that you've been ambassador to France and living in Paris too long to know what life is like at home."

Shriver and his staff arrived in North Borneo with the first contingent of 60 Peace Corps men and women teachers. On the first Sunday, all the tall Americans went to church — Methodist, Episcopal or Catholic. And it impressed the people of Borneo that here was a true picture of Americans — one they hadn't seen before in the imported movies.

Highlight of the inspection trip was probably the visit with President Sukarno of Indonesia. Shriver and his staff had not intended to go to Indonesia because they had not been invited. But in Singapore they were advised through the United States Embassy that if they came to Indonesia, Sukarno would see them.

Before they went into the palace at Bogor, they were told that when the president ordered tea, that would be the end of the interview. Five minutes after they arrived, Sukarno ordered tea. Shriver's heart sank. All this way for nothing.

But that turned out to be only the beginning. They were kept for over two hours and THAT was just the beginning. They stayed for eight days, saw 15 cabinet ministers, went where Americans had previously been forbidden to go during Indonesia's mobilization for a "war" with the Dutch over Western New Guinea. They surveyed projects where the Peace Corps might be of service.

THE OUTCOME is that two Peace Corps officials are now in Indonesia discussing a formal agreement for assistance.

If it ends in Peace Corps high school and university teachers, sports directors, auto repairmen, radio and television technicians going to Indonesia, it will be an important diplomatic breakthrough in a country where Communists have the biggest political party and the Russians and Chinese have poured in over $2 billion in technical assistance, military supplies, MIGs and submarines.

Recipients Stand on Cuba And Foreign Aid Setback

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Maybe it will be a little easier now for President Kennedy to understand why there's so much opposition in Congress to the foreign-aid bill.

Maybe it will be easier for the British government to understand a demand that may come someday from the American people that American troops and also financial aid be withdrawn from Europe.

For no less a person than the member of the British Cabinet who heads up the Treasury Department in London has just told an American audience on television that Cuba is "essentially an American problem," and hence Britain couldn't pledge support for an economic blockade. The Foreign Minister of Norway also told Secretary of State Rusk that Cuba is "an American problem."

World Problem

But supposing the United States had said to the world that Viet Nam was "essentially an Asian problem?" Supposing that President Eisenhower, instead of landing Marines in Lebanon, had said the Soviet aggression in that area was "essentially a Middle East problem?" And supposing President Kennedy had said in recent months that the fate of Berlin was "essentially a European problem?" What would have been the reaction then in London and other European capitals?

Cuba is not "an American problem." It is a world problem because Soviet aggression recognizes no geographical limits. The military and economic sinews of Castro's government are being provided today by the Soviet Union. The United States rightly seeks to impose an economic blockade on Cuba. Secretary Rusk is meeting with foreign ministers of various countries this week to persuade them to help by requiring their ships not to carry cargoes to Cuba. But even Candada—our next-door neighbor—has been hesitating to go along.

Naturally, the business men in these countries are opposed to any embargo on trade with Cuba. Will material interests and selfishness, however, prevail against a policy of checkmating the Soviet Union's aggression? Failure of the Western countries to work together in the 1930's caused the collapse of the economic blockade against Mussolini imposed by the League of Nations. World War 2 came as a result of the Nazi belief in the apparent disunity on our side.

Evading Obligations

It is already being argued by some governments that their ships are under longterm charter and can't be persuaded to withhold their transportation facilities. But, in a matter of preserving the peace of the world, the larger interest should, of course, prevail. If it doesn't, will not public opinion in the United States tend to be less concerned about threats by the Soviet Union to European countries?

The whole future of foreign aid moreover, will be dealt a body blow if the principal nations of the world continue to evade their own obligation to help carry the financial burden of America's troops in Europe and in other countries. The taxpayers of the United States will not long support such a one-sided arrangement. Rep. Otto Passman, of Louisiana, Democrat, who has led the fight against the foreign-aid bill and suceeded in lopping off a sizable amount from it in the House at this session, will gain many more supporters next year if the European governments ignore Soviet military aggression in this hemisphere and continue to insist that the United States should pay most of the cost of its military forces assembled to check Soviet aggression in Europe, Asia and Africa.

Also, the United States government has just dramatically come to the rescue of the United Nations by voting $100,000,000 purchase of bonds to pay the expenses of the UN armies in Africa. The President of the United States didn't say that the Congo mess was "essentially an African problem."

No Time for Neutralism

Maybe the charitable explanation of all this is that neither the newspapers of Europe nor the American ambassadors there have conveyed the whole story of how the people of this country really feel about the Soviet infiltration and military build-up in Cuba. One reason for this may be because President Kennedy and Secretary of State Rusk have maintained a mistaken policy of silence. They haven't said a word publicly to the government of the Soviet Union to protest what it has done in Cuba. The reported explanation is that the advisers of Messrs. Kennedy and Rusk have insisted that to do so would "increase tensions" over Berlin. But tensions have increased now not only over Berlin but over Cuba. The West gives the impression of disunity, and the United States government gives the impression of timidity if not fear to notify the Soviet Union that it has deliberately interfered in the Western Hemisphere and has assisted a dictatorship to continue to deprive the Cuban people of their sovereign rights.

A real opportunity has been missed by the Kennedy administration to make it clear everywhere that what has happened in Cuba in the last two years is a world problem, and that the aggression by the Soviets must be checked by the free world.

For this is no time for "neutralism" either by the smaller countries or by the larger nations that regularly receive financial or economic or military aid from the taxpayers of the United States.

TWO CRONES ON THE PHONE

MABEL: Hello. It's me again. ALICE: I know. MABEL: My husband says I monotonize the telephone. ALICE: They're all alike. Always complaining. MABEL: I told him the difference between us is I'm a totalitarian — never touch a drop. ALICE: Rollo went bowling Tuesday. He got up to the top of the stoop at 2 a. m. and he and the ball went to the bottom.

MABEL: Was he hurt? ALICE: Not my Rollo. But the noise woke the whole neighborhood. Such language. MABEL: How about the ball? ALICE: Who cares? It was like hunting for a needle in a hayride. He finally gave up and went to bed. MABEL: Still cursing? ALICE: What else? It turned out to be my fault.

MABEL: He must have had a nice head in the morning. ALICE: Him? Drinking doesn't do anything to him except make him dopier. Believe it or not, he was up at the crank of dawn looking for the ball. MABEL: Did he find it? ALICE: For $22, he'd seal off the neighborhood. It was in McCarthy's alley across the street.

MABEL: What else is new? ALICE: What could be new? Get up. Get the children off. Clean the pigsty. Make breakfast for his royal highness. Do the shopping. Wait for the kids to come home from school. What can be new? The last time something new happened in this dump, the oil burner broke down. So tell me, what's new with you?

MABEL: Night before last, I went to Luna's coming out debris. It wasn't worth it, really. Just beer and pretzels. ALICE: What was she wearing? MABEL: One of those long orange organdy things. It had a sweetheart neck — remember the sweetheart neck? ALICE: She must have looked a sight. MABEL: The kid would have looked all right, but what can you do with a child who weighed 130 when she was ten? I mean, that's a size, Alice. Then when you put it in orange organdy, it looks like an eyetalian sunset.

ALICE: Rollo wouldn't let me go because he's not speaking to her father. MABEL: Your guy has a memory like a camel. ALICE: That's funny. An elephant you mean. A camel is the one who goes eight days without walking. Mabel: Anyway, I feel sorry for the kid. I remember when they sent her to the hospital for a romantic heart.

ALICE: You sure honey? I thought it was polaroid. MABEL: No. We have the same doctor. ALICE: You cooking? MABEL: Just a little soup for the kids. They come home for lunch. ALICE: What kind? MABEL: Cream of chicken. I give it to them with cretonnes. ALICE: No cooking for me until tonight. I'm going to spend the afternoon reading. MABEL: You got a good book?

ALICE: Rollo read it. I heard him laughing one night so I'm going to tackle it. MABEL: Lolita? ALICE: No. It's called How to Lip the Trite Fantastic, by Alban Norris. MABEL: How to what the what? ALICE: How to Tripe the Frip Trantastic. I probably have it wrong. Anyway, I'll lend it to you. MABEL: Don't bother. I have enough trying to get time for Louella. That's the women that really ALICE: Never, talks turtle.

ALICE: You said it. The real lowdown. MABEL: Want to go to the movies tonight? ALICE: Not me. I have to paint the kitchen tonight. MABEL: What's the matter with Rollo? ALICE: You kidding? He can't paint and drink at the same time. I warned him, I said: 'One of these days, Rollo, you're going to get the T.V's.'

MABEL: What did he say? ALICE: Oh, funny, funny. He said: 'Back in the kennel, you.' MABEL: Mine's a riot too. A regular Red Skelton around the house. ALICE: I'm going to do my laughing when the cops provoke Rollo's license. MABEL: They never tell you what it's going to be like before the wedding.

MABEL: If they take my Pete's license, he'll have to go to work on a well-boiled icycle. Ha ha. ALICE: A what? MABEL: Sorry. I meant a well-soiled micycle. Alice: Oh. Well, I have to get back to the kitchen. MABEI: Something on the stove? ALICE: I told you I got that new electric one. Well, the dials must be wrong because every time I do a roast, it's done to a fragile.

MABEL: Trv fifty degrees lower. ALICE: Someone told me it might be the silver furl I use. MABEL: It can't be. Alice. I use the same as you. After the kids go back, I'm going to have a little snoo for myself. ALICE: No sleep? MABEL: When Pete's got a load on, it's like sleeping in a blender.

ALICE: Ha ha. Well, you know what they say about insomnia. It's just mind over matress. MABEL: Toodleoo. ALICE: Abyssynia. . .

Color Photos New Job for Schirra

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. will be taking pictures of the earth, hunting rare types of cosmic rays, and checking on how much the earth's atmosphere reduces light during his scheduled six-orbit flight Oct. 3.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration Manned Spacecraft Center here said Monday Schirra will devote a considerable amount of time to making color photographs of the earth for NASA's Goddard (Md.) Space Flight Center.

"Goddard scientists are interested in color photography of folded mountains (a type of range), fault zones, volcanic fields, meteor impacts and glaciers," NASA officials said.

The cosmic ray experiment will require no effort from Schirra. Scientists will attach packs of sensitive emulsions to each side of the flight couch. It is hoped certain rays about which little is known will strike the packs and leave impressions.

The experiment with light will be an effort to determine how much light filters through the earth's atmosphere and how well the astronaut can see at night.

Three high-intensity flares will be lighted at Woomera, Australia, and electric lamps of three million candlepower will be displayed at Durban, South Africa. Schirra will have a photometer to measure the intensity of the light he sees.

Schirra will handle most of the light sighting and photographic assignments during his second through fifth orbits when he is not expected to be too busy controlling his ship, NASA officials said.

Citizens Committee Refutes Proposal by Taxpayer Group

The mounting controversy over the form the forthcoming school bond issue should take in the Onteora Central Schools District today produced a rebuttal by the Onteora Citizens Committee against recent statements made by J. James Fairbairn of the Onteora School Taxpayers Association.

In rebutting five points raised by Fairbairn, the publicity chairman of the Citizens Committee, Richard O. Longham, said:

"The Onteora Citizens Committee is dedicated to the belief that the voters of the district are entitled to the true facts upon which to form their opinions on the coming school bond referendum. We must, therefore, take issue with errors of fact and distortion by Mr. James Fairbairn and his organizations."

West Hurley School

Fairbairn's group proposes the building of a 21-room elementary school at West Hurley patterned after the Netherwood School in Hyde Park and will seek to have an alternate proposal placed on the ballot.

The five points raised by the Citizens Committee reply follow:

1) The Netherwood School in Hyde Park, which this group wants to duplicate, was built to accomodate 600 pupils, not 650-700 as stated.

2) Construction costs for the proposed Onteora schools would be nearly identical with the Netherwood School on a square-foot basis.

3) Land acquisition and furnishings are included in the $1,800,000 suggested bond issue, not additional as stated.

4) No additional acreage would be required for an addition to Woodstock school, nor is there a water problem there. Since this group states that a 21-room school is more efficient in West Hurley, we cannot see why the same size school in Woodstock "would disturb the curriculum."

5) Since the school in West Hurley would cost about $1,000,000, we are unable to figure out how it would save $2,000,000 over the $1,800,000 proposed for the Onteora district.

Need 32 Rooms

"These errors of fact speak for themselves," the statement continued. "More serious, however, is the attempt to mislead the taxpayers of the district into believing that for the expenditure of $1,000,000 the district's problems could be solved. Extremely conservative estimates indicate a classroom shortage in 1964, which is the earliest date by which any new schools could be opened, of 27 classrooms, which will increase to 32 rooms by 1966. To suggest under these circumstances that 21 rooms are enough is like buying a one-bedroom house when you are expecting twins. It is clearly a waste of the taxpayers' money, for it would mean an expenditure of $1,000,000 for facilities that would be inadequate on the day they opened."

Defends Board's Plan

"The plans on which the Board of Education is working has been termed a 'package deal'," the statement continued. "It is indeed a package, well thought out, to build enough classrooms and put them where the children are. A map recently prepared and shown to interested taxpayers gave the following elementary school population by townships: Shandaken, 295; Olive, 320; West Hurley, 382; Woodstock, 462.

"These are present School Census figures and by the time these schools could be completed an increase of about 10 percent or more seems likely."

The Citizens Committee statement concluded: "To suggest, in the face of these figures, that no schools are needed in Woodstock or Phoenicia, shows a sad unwillingness on inability to face facts, which we are sure the majority of district taxpayers do not share."

Emergency Bills Mount in Town

The high cost of the current water shortage and emergency repairs to the local water district were pointed up sharply when it came time to pay the piper at the September meeting of the Woodstock Town Board.

Robert M. Holsapple, electrical contractor of Bearsville, who has branched out into other fields in recent months, was paid bills totailing $6,854.09. He submitted three items for payment, including one of $5,507.96 for repairs to the Woodstock Gardens water district, $902.00 for blacktopping of the Town Hall and fire hall driveways and $444.13 for repairs to the pump house and Town House and Matteson hydrants.

Repairs to a meter for the water meter service amounted to $9.45 and P. J. Gallagher and Sons of Kingston were paid $188.71 for repairs to a motor. There was another item of $542.00 for pipe purchased from Water Pipe and Supply Co.

New Publication Due In Onteora District

A new publication in the form of a monthly bulletin is soon to appear in the Onteora Central Schools District and is designed to improve the flow of communication between the school and the residents of the district.

The bulletin will include all phases and levels of the OCS educational program. Faculty members, administrative and supervisory personnel will be asked to contribute material for this publication.

About Norway And Hospitality

Don't stay on St. Mark's Square if you want to know the inside story of Venice. Don't linger on the "Ringstrasse" to get acquainted with the Viennese people. For the same reason, don't fool around too long in Oslo's City Hall or on Bygdoy, if you are interested in the Oslo not advertised in your travel guide books. You will have to go there anyway.

But go to some of the eastern sections of Oslo (eastern sections are usually less clean in many large cities) to find out how much refuse you find on the ground. Let's say on Brugata (gata or gate, by the way, means street). I didn't find a piece of paper on the street. But I saw a "gentleman" who threw away (not in one of the many waste paper baskets) an envelope of a letter which he had just begun to read emerging from the lobby of the fashionable Hotel Continental. I picked up the envelope and read the address: Mr. George S. Tomkins (at present) Hotel Continental, Oslo. "Please forward" was added to the address. The letter came from Winchester (Hampshire) England.

It Is Expected

It seems that the English expect the Norwegians to know their language and pick up their waste paper as well. And they are right. Norwegians do both, if necessary. Who speaks English in Norway?

Not only the personnel in a hotel, the waiters in the restaurants in the tourist centers, but also the girls employed in a suburban post office, many people, just plain people on the streets and children in the schools. (About my visits to schools, I will tell you some other time.)

Even the lady in the fruit store in Roald Amundsen Gate that sold me spotless grapes and plums said: "May I help you?" after the first two syllables I spoke in Norwegian. These two syllables were "God dag" which means "good day." I usually said these two words when I wanted the people to answer in English. But more often, they only looked at me and started to talk in English before I opened my mouth. By the way, you don't have to wash these grapes and plums. I started eating them right away while roaming through the streets.

A Helping Hand

Said a young man who saw me reading the map of Oslo in the rather remote Gardevien: "Pardon me, sir, perhaps you are lost. Could I be of any help to you?" No. I was never lost in Oslo. You can't get lost among these hospitable people. I suggest that some of our own intellectuals who are interested in the study of languages go to Norway. It might take some time before they pick up Norwegian, but at the same time they have a good chance to improve their own English.

I saw very few women smoking and hardly any "expectant ones." It seems that Norwegians are more interested in the quality of the population than in quantity. The entire population of Norway is smaller than that of Chicago. Once I read in a Norwegian language newspaper about a holdup. And the word "holdup" was used in the headline. So I asked a native of Oslo what is the Norwegian word for "holdup." He replied: "It is 'holdup', we have no better word for it."

About Children

Children on the playgrounds, in the streets, in restaurants, etc. behave quite well. They are not very noisy. They are not better than our children, but parents and teachers control them better. The idea of what freedom means is less misinterpreted than in our way of bringing up children. The difference between right and wrong seems to be fixed in the child's mind at an earlier age....

Christian Science Sermon Theme: Reality

"Reality" will be the subject of the Lesson Sermon at Christian Science church services in Woodstock Sunday.

Paul's advice to the Philippians is included in the Scriptural readings: "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report: if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things" (Philippians 4).

Among the selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy is this brief definition of reality: "Reality is spiritual, harmonious, immutable, immortal, divine, eternal" (p.335).

The Golden Text is from Deuteronomy (32): "Ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect."

Junior Riding Days Opener Is Set for Sunday

The Woodstock Riding Club's 1962 "All-English Junior Riding Day" will be held Sunday 9 a. m. at its Ohayo Mountain Road ring. The stars and stripes ascending the flagpole to the accompaniment of the national anthem heralds the opening of the annual fall season for the Woodstock club.

The All-Western Junior Riding Day is scheduled October 21 and the Barbecue and Fun on Horseback Day on October 28.

This annual series of three Junior Riding Days was started in 1956 by J. C. van Rijn and the Woodstock Riding Club to promote interest in horses among local children and members of the Woodstock Riding Club.

Since then this series of show has become a local classic. Originally, the Junior Riding days were open only to junior members of the Woodstock Riding Club and a few specially invited guests. They are now open to any amateur 18 years of age or under. This Sunday's show will feature hunter, jumper and saddle horse class.

Increased Interest

The success of these shows is not only evidenced by their popularity but also in the vast increase in both the number and calibre of horses in the area.

Local children, some still in their early teens, who had their first show experience in these riding days now range to shows not only all over the Hudson valley but also in Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and wherever they go, they are usually well up in ribbons.

However the trophies at the Junior Riding days are still the most coveted and cherished of all by local riders and spectators can expect to see clean, hard fought competition in all the events.

Spectator admission is free and the Ohayo Mountain ring offers an ideal place for an all-day picnic. There will be a refreshment stand.

Water Meters Are Being Read

It's an ill wind that blows no one some good, says the old adage.

The same might be said about the current water shortage and emergency in the township of Woodstock.

It has been learned that some water district customers are having their water meters read for the first time in many years. In one case it was six years, in another much longer than that. Other not so lucky customers report their meters have been read regularly each quarter.

The Volkswagen is the one in black.

These cars look alike to a Volkswagen mechanic. They have the same engine, the same transmission, and the same chassis.

But the one on the bottom got mixed up with an Italian who thought the Volkswagen would make a sexy little runabout: Ghia of Turin.

The car's the VW Karmann Ghia.

Its special body takes so much hand work that Volkswagen farms it out to one of Europe's greatest custom coachworks, Karmann of Osnabrück. Every seam is welded, ground down, filed and sanded by hand. (It's been mistaken for everything from a Ferrari to a Lancia.)

Yet VW parts are all you need. You get the VW's legendary mileage. VW's air-cooled engine. And the famous Volkswagen traction in snow and sand.

Along with a gee-gaw or two. A defroster for the back window. Acoustical soundproofing. Adjustable bucket seats.

Both Sides Make Errors

During the World Championship match, the bidding in the box took place when Italy held the East-West cards. East's four-diamond bid was based on the assumption that his partner had diamond support for his two no-trump bid.

He was right about that, but if he had passed his side would have made a profit against North's three spades.

But the four diamond bid was doubled and East made it when South pulled the wrong card.

South opened his singleton heart. Dummy's queen was covered by North's king and East's ace won. A spade was taken by South's ace and he led a diamond won by dummy. A heart lead was won by North while South discarded his deuce of spades. North led another heart which was ruffed in dummy. The queen of spades was ducked by North. East discarded a heart, but corrected his play immediately. Somehow this confused South who discarded a club instead of ruffing. East was able to ruff North's ace of clubs and establish dummy's king to make four.

At the other table, the American East and West arrived at three no-trump. South went to four clubs. He had several ways to make this contract, but did not find one of them and wound up down one trick. So the U. S. team saved something from the wreckage.

Better Chance

Two generations ago, there was a 50-50 chance among newlyweds that either the husband or wife would die at least two years before their youngest child was married, but today's newlyweds can expect that they'll both live about 13 years after their last child is married.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Obviously, it's only the small, relatively unimportant details of ranch life—or television's idea of it — that have changed in the past 70 years.

The strong, brave, handsome, loyal, modern foreman of the Garret spread—500,000 acres of cattle, lumber, wheat and mines — gets around by helicopter, summons a vet when the steers fall sick and uses a solid gold cigarette lighter to fire up his tailor-made. But his fists fly in traditional style even if he isn't a fast gun—or any gun at all for that matter.

The opening program of "Empire" on NBC Tuesday night was a typical and, alas, tired tale of the West. It was the plot about the man unjustly accused of murder and even included the embryonic lynching party. But it turned out well, as it always does, after our foreman—played in stalwart fashion by Richard Egan—solved things with a little lecture to the mob instead of a shoot-out. That's new.

The rest of the regular cast—the Garrets, matriarch, daughter and young son—didn't have much to do. But they will later.

It was kind of fun.

Former President Herbert Hoover, who has already written a book on the subject, summarized "The Ordeal of Woodrow Wilson" in an NBC special Tuesday night. It was less a personal memoir of his World War I chief than a resume of President Wilson's valiant fight for the League of Nations. But it was a program of very special interest merely because of Mr. Hoover's expressions of affection and vast respect for the mind and ideals of his predecessor.

Recommended tonight: "Beverly Hillbillies," premiere, CBS, 9-9:30 (EDT)—Buddy Ebsen stars in a comedy series about a Southern mountain family that strikes it rich in oil and proceeds to live it up; returning programs, "The Dick Van Dyke Show," CBS, 9:30-10, and "Circle Theatre, CBS, 10 — James Daly as a missionary priest jailed in Red China.

To Offer Schools Essay Contest on Fire Prevention

An essay contest will be offered to all the consolidated school districts in Ulster County in conjunction with Fire Prevention Week according to James Hicks, chairman of the Ulster County Fire Prevention Week for the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association.

All schools in the consolidated school districts may participate along with all parochial schools. Each school will judge its own essays and submit them to Hicks at the Tillson Fire Company. Only one winner will be chosen from each school district.

Only eighth grade future fire fighters are eligible to enter the contest. They will write on the subject, "What Fire Prevention Week means to Me." The essays must be 100 words or less and will be displayed in a prominent business window in Kingston during the 1963 Fire Prevention Week. All authors of winning essays will be invited to participate in the annual Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Parade to be held in Saugerties in July of 1963.

All schools having eighth grade pupils are asked to compete in the contest.

Sail In for Lunch

LAVALLETTE, N. J. (AP) — If you don't tip the waiter at the Quarterdeck Club he won't tell you to go jump in the lake — but he may throw you in himself.

The club is the latest fad — a floating restaurant on a barge anchored in Barnegat Bay. The sail-in eatery is the brainchild of William V. Scott, an excommercial fisherman and businessman. He bought an old railroad barge and spent the winter converting it.

"Boats are becoming as common as cars today," Scott explained. "There are lots of driveins to serve motorists, so I figured why not a sail-in restaurant? As far as I know, it's the only thing of its kind around."

PSC Takes Action In Phone Raises

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission scaled down a proposed rate increase by a small Upstate telephone company today and blocked an immediate increase planned by another.

The PSC told the Empire Telephone Corp. of Prattsburgh, Steuben County, that it could not approve increases totaling $17,700 annually but would consider a revised proposal holding the boost to $11,500.

The commission also suspended a plan of the Margaretville Telephone Co. to raise rates by $1 a month, effective Oct. 1. A public hearing on the proposal will be scheduled.

Margaretville Telephone serves about 1,360 subscribers in Delaware and Ulster Counties. The company, which converted to dial equipment last year, said it needed about $13,400 additional revenue to pay for improvements and meet higher operating costs.

Empire Telephone serves about 2,600 customers in parts of Seneca, Schuyler, Steuben, Yates and Genesee counties.

Cuban Predicament Painful for Washington

U.S. Can Lose Something If It Acts, Something If It Does Not

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States' predicament with Fidel Castro has always been double: how to do something about him and how to save face if it doesn't. It's an embarrassed contemplation.

Now, like a man determined to drive a neighbor to distraction with gradual torments, Premier Khrushchev has added one more jolt to the American embarrassment.

He let Castro announce Tuesday the Soviet Union and Cuba plan to build a port somewhere on Cuba's coastline as headquarters for a joint Russian-Cuban fishing fleet.

No Overt Action Now

The immediate American reaction is: just a fishing fleet?

It was bad enough when Moscow announced some weeks ago it was sending arms to Castro along with technicians to teach the Cubans how to use them. This brought heated demands in this country for a Cuban invasion.

President Kennedy thought they were overheated. He said the weapons so far were just the defensive kind. Congress, after appropriate reflection, has been content to settle for a resolution.

It will say something to the effect that the United States will use force if necessary to stop any expansion of communism from Cuba to the rest of the Western Hemisphere.

Thus no American action—at least overt—appeared to be in the works at this time.

May Cause New Outbursts

But the thought of a Russian fishing fleet patrolling the American coast—with all that the presence of such a fleet could imply—will probably cause new outbursts of American exasperation.

It is easy to imagine the form it will take:

That the new port may in reality become not a fishing base but a Russian naval base.

That the Russian vessels will range all the way from electronic Peeping Toms, looking in the American window, to naval caravans landing Communist guerrillas on the shore of Latin-American republics.

All this in time may be true, and the very nearness of the Russian ships is ominous, but the United States will still probably feel compelled to show restraint for a variety of reasons.

Any direct assault by the American giant on Cuba with a population of only seven million would give Khrushchev the finest propaganda harvest he's gathered since the cold war started.

No Call From L-A

There has been no outburst of enthusiasm in Latin-American countries, which this country is so anxious to protect from communism, for direct action to throttle Castro.

And, since this country is anxious to be considered a good neighbor and a good influence to its Latin neighbors, it can ill afford to be considered a baleful one, which it might if it resorted to invasion.

In addition there is the little matter of the Russian threat of war if the United States hits Cuba. This may be strictly bluff. Naturally, the United States must be hesitant to assume so, since the results could be ghastly.

Yet, having said all this, the American predicament is painful.

The United States has been asserting leadership of the Americas. Its hope of success in Latin America is based on the hope its leadership will be accepted and respected, two conditions practically synonymous.

But here's tiny Cuba, just 90 miles off the American coast, defying gigantic Uncle Sam, peeking out from under the wing of Khrushchev to call names.

The longer this goes on, the more the loss of face for the United States. There's a limit to how much more it can lose without jeopardizing Latin-American respect, which could be as disastrous as anything else.

Thus the United States can lose something if it acts and something if it doesn't. While it ponders, the best it can expect is more indignities from both Krushchev and Castro.

Expect Objections Soon on Keeping Conservatives Out

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Detailed objections to nominating petitions submitted by the State's Conservative Party are expected to be filed in the next few days by Republicans seeking to keep the Conservatives off the November election ballot.

State GOP officials took the first legal step Tuesday toward barring the new party's statewide candidates from the ballot by filing with the secretary of state a statement of general objections to the Conservatives' petitions.

Six-Day Limit

The detailed objections must be submitted within six days of the filing of the general objections.

Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse, in a statement to reporters, contended that the petitions were "replete with errors, changes and misleading information."

He charged the petitions contained the names of many people "who by affidavit and otherwise, have indicated to us that they have no intention of supporting the candidates" of the Conservative Party.

The party has been sharply critical of Republican Gov. Rockefeller and Sen. Jacob K. Javits, who are both seeking re-election. Conservatives feel the views of the two are too liberal.

What Law Requires

Because theirs is a new party, the Conservatives must obtain the signatures of 12,000 qualified voters in order to have a place on the ballot. There must be at least 50 signatures from each county, but, for the purposes of this requirement, Hamilton and Fulton counties are counted as one.

The petition filed by Morhouse and GOP State Secretary Lyle W. Hornbeck said many of the Conservatives' signatures "were affixed as a result of false and fraudulent misrepresentations made to the signers."

Identify Slain Negro as Killer Of Third Woman

NEW YORK (AP) — Slain Charles Gumby, alleged rapist-strangler of two Brooklyn women, has been identifed as the killer of still a third Brooklyn woman, detectives say.

Gumby, 37, a Negro, was shot to death early Sunday in an elaborately devised police trap when he returned to the Brooklyn apartment of his latest rape victim, apparently to kill her because she could identify him, detectives said.

Gumby's fingerprints matched those found in the apartment a week earlier when the rape victim was assaulted and successfully pleaded for her life. Police said Gumby's prints also were the same as those found at the apartments of two Brooklyn white women who were raped and strangled in 1960.

Tuesday, one of two witnesses to the slaying of another Brooklyn woman, Mrs. Maria Otero, 63, positively identified Gumby as the slayer after viewing his body at the Kings County morgue, detective Lt. James Dunseith reported.

Supervisors Will

ter could be "thrashed out," differences between the two parties discussed, and a determination reached. Chairman McHugh said he would call such a meeting.

There has been a growing feeling in both parties that there is need for a new and adequate county building to house the presently overcrowded offices and departments as well as making provisions for additional court room space.

It was suggested at the last meeting that many of the objections could be overcome through a frank discussion of needs and that it was time for party differences to be adjusted and the program taken out of the "political picture."

Plans for a new county building were approved by the board several years ago but the Republican-sponsored plan failed to gain the two-thirds vote required to finance the project. The two parties have been unable to agree on a suitable site.

Conferees Clear

ing U.S. businesses match their modernized — and tax-favored — competitors abroad.

The big casualty, doomed by the Senate, was the plan to withhold income taxes on interest and dividends. The Treasury had hoped to collect by this means as much as $780 million a year in tax revenue now lost because of nonreporting.

The Senate, bombarded with adverse mail, struck out the withholding provision the House had voted. The conference committee went along, but in accepting the Senate substitute, a requirement for more elaborate reporting by the firms paying interest and dividends, the conferees directed the Treasury report annually on the effectiveness of this device, stimated to be worth $240 million a year in recouped revenue.

Under the investment credit provision, a company could deduct directly from its taxes, subject to some limitations, up to 7 per cent of what it spent for equipment and machinery. Utilities would be held to a 3 per cent deduction. The conference committee made the provision retroactive to Jan. 1, 1962, thus greatly increasing the over-all revenue cost of the bill for its first year.

Congressional sources estimated the first year net loss at $1.3 billion, leveling off thereafter at $545 million a year. Kennedy' original proposal was estimated by the treasury to net an increase of $600 million a year.

The compromise bill would tighten appreciably — though not nearly so much as Kennedy recommended — the tax deduction rules applying to business entertainment, travel and gifts.

Deaths

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP) — Wirt Franklin, 79, a founder and first president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, died Monday after several weeks' illness.

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—Charles F. Riesner, 75, retired Hollywood producer and director and author of the World War I song, "Goodbye Broadway, Hello France," died Monday.

LYON, France (AP)—Madame Edouard Herriot, 85, widow of the longtime French political figure, died Tuesday.

Late Bulletin

Meredith Turned Back

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—Officers turned back Negro James H. Meredith at a gate to the campus of the University of Mississippi today.

The road leading through the gate and into the wooded hilly campus was blocked by three highway patrol cars.

Meredith arrived in a five-car caravan from the airport at Oxford, where he had landed only a few minutes before in a trip from New Orleans, La., to make his third attempt to enroll at the all-white university.

Gov. Ross Barnett was racing toward the campus from Jackson in a car—his plans to fly delayed by weather.

Senate Approves Farm Bill, Bait In Trap to GOP

WASHINGTON AP)—President Kennedy has received from Congress a new farm program containing about half of what he requested and denounced by a Republican leader as "bait in the trap" for tougher controls later.

The bill barreled through the Senate 52 to 41 Tuesday—an almost comfortable margin after its cliff-hanging five-vote victory in the House last week.

All 34 Republicans voting opposed the measure. They were joined by seven Democrats.

During five hours of debate the program was praised as realistic and fair, and condemned as a monstrosity and worse than no bill at all.

The administration has welcomed the measure as a step in the right direction.

Here is what the administration got and didn't get:

It got a new and permanent wheat program which it expects to be more effective in limiting production and stabilizing grower prices.

It got broadened authority to deal with problems of stagnating rural areas incapable of prospering in agriculture.

It failed to get a control program for feed grains. Congress approved a one-year extension of the present voluntary feed grain retirement program paying farmers to idle their land.

The wheat program is the administration's first major commodity legislative victory since it took office.

Two Are Injured

Two persons were injured in two city traffic mishaps Tuesday. Rose Emma Mayone, 35, of RD 4, Saugerties, reported head and leg injuries after a two-car mishap at Wall and Main Streets at 6:45 p. m. She was treated at Kingston Hospital. She was listed as the driver of the one car, and the other was operated by Richard A. Lasher, 22, of RD 4, Box 259. Police said the Mayone car, struck on its right side was forced into a pole. Officer Thomas Coffey investigated. Lawrence Sicheri, 17, of RD 4, Box 325 Kingston, reported possible rib injuries after a mishap reported at 6:25 at Washington Avenue and North Front Street. Officers Anthony Turck and Wilmot Hall said he drove the one car, and the other was operated by Robert McDonald, 19, of 163 Wrentham Street.

Arkansas Man Jailed

An Arkansas man accused by police of poking his fist through a plate glass window at the Shamrock Hotel and Restaurant, Ellenville, today pleaded guilty to public intoxication and was sentenced to 10 days in the Ulster County Jail. Assistant Police Chief Arthur Mantone said Clarence Edelman, 31, of Paris, Ark., was treated at Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville for a severed tendon of the right hand. Sentence was imposed by Village Police Justice Frank Decker.

Four Are Inducted

Three county men and one from the city inducted recently by local draft boards into the U. S. Army left here Sept. 20 for the army reception center, Camp Jackson, South Carolina. They were Edwin Percy Yarter, 55 Garden Street; Dennis Everett Beaver, 196 Salem Street, Port Ewen; Webster Lindley Sherman, RD 1, Box 250, New Paltz, and Johann Werner Nagel, PO Box 112, Stone Ridge.

Hurt in Farm Mishap

A 21-year-old Columbia County youth suffered serious injuries to his feet Tuesday afternoon in a second silage loader accident to occur on Columbia County farms. Frederick G. W. Lasher, of Copake, had both feet badly mangled when his feet were tangled in the mechanism and conveyor belt of a silage loader on the Richard Dunning farm in the town of Copake. Lasher was taken to Columbia Memorial Hospital, Hudson, by the Copake Rescue Squad.

AssaultChargesDismissed

Third degree assault charges against Fred Albright, 35, of 23 Ravine Street, and John Healey, 48, of Vincent Street, Town of Ulster, dating back to Sept. 21, were dismissed in city court today. They had lodged the charges against each other. Attorney Joseph J. Qualtere appeared for Albright and Sherwood E. Davis for Healey.

Pinball Money Stolen

Local police were asked early today to investigate theft of money from a pinball machine at Larry's Diner, 338 East Chester Street. Entrance was gained through a side window.

Newsmen Tire Of Such Remarks

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a newspaperman gets tired of hearing:

"Oh, you can't print that!"

"Of the record, I don't mind telling you that—"

"He must be a newspaperman. Nobody else would wear a hat like that."

"Why is it newspapers always seem to be full of nothing but bad news? Is the world really that awful?"

"You fellows must get a lot of information you can't publish. Tell me the truth now. What is Khrushchev really up to?"

Page One, Please

"I suppose you expect to get into heaven on a press pass, too."

"Could you write a story about me? I just bit a dog."

"I just phoned to give you an item about my daughter's wedding. You'll be sure and put it on the front page, won't you? That'll really impress our neighbors."

"Hi, Scoop! What's new?"

"And furthermore, I'm just not any ordinary indignant reader. My husband is a cousin of the mayor."

"I thought all newspapermen went around with a big pencil stuck behind their ear."

"My son just flunked out of college again, and now he says he's interested in taking up journalism. How long will it take him to become a foreign correspondent?"

"Hey Pete, Mr. Cyzinockiweics is on the phone. He says we spelled his name wrong again. He wants to know if he changed it to Smith would it help you to get it right."

Strict Confidence

"Naturally, what I'm telling you is in strict confidence."

"Oh, no, I don't want to be quoted."

"Here's a cigar, son. Let's just forget the whole thing, shall we?"

"You printed the text of the President's last speech. Why can't you run the full text of my sermon?"

"Gee, being a reporter sounds awfully exciting. You get to meet such interesting people."

"You don't mean they pay you to write things like that! Why, I only went two years to high school, but I'll bet you I could—"

"I used to be in the newspaper game myself—and then I got smart."

"Shall I let him in, Boss? He claims he's a reporter."

"Pete, there's a fellow out at the reception desk who says he's invented a perpetual motion machine that really works. Better go out and listen to him. He may be a subscriber."

"Hello, hello. This is Mr. Cyzinockiweics. I want to give you an item about my wife being elected president of our garden club. Yes, it's 'c' like in centipede, 'y' like in yesterday, 'z' like in—"..

Filmland Social Off and Running At Merman Bash

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The fall social season got off to a ripsnorting start with a party given by Philip Silvers and Milton Berle for Miss Ethel Merman.

It was quite a night. Nobody knew exactly the reason for the bash. Berle muttered something about introducing Merm to Hollywood society "since she apparently is going to live out here." But that didn't seem too logical, since nearly all of the guests knew her anyway.

Berle's Touch Evident

But no one questioned the reason; they just had a good time. Berle's touch was evident throughout. Guests entered the Beverly Hills Hotel patio through a door marked with a star and the name of Ethel Merman. The show was Berle-produced, as is just about everything he touches.

"What a man this is!" exclaimed his co-host Phil Silvers. "He had me rehearsing all afternoon with special material. You'd think he were playing before 50 million people."

There were only 150 in the audience. But it was a special 150, including newlyweds Jack Lemmon and Felicia Farr, steadies Natalie Wood and Warren Beatty, Gene Kelly, Jackie Cooper, Danny Kaye, the Jack Bennys, Danny Thomas, Elsa Martinelli, James Garner, Rod Taylor, Billy Wilder, Mitzi Gaynor. Plus the Merman-Berle-Silvers co-stars from "It's A Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World" —Terry-Thomas, Mickey Rooney, Dick Shawn, Jonathan Winters.

The guests were served an elegant spread and then the show. Silvers and Berle started by singing a parody of "Together," which they weren't, since Berle chose to sing an octave below Silvers.

Berle greeted the guests and read a few spurious telegrams. Regrets from Bob Hope, who couldn't attend because "I'm entertaining the troops in Cuba." One from Rosalind Russell, who did the film version of Merman's great role in "Gypsy": "Ethel WHO?"

Silvers did his singing lesson bit, and Berle played the fall guy for one of the first times in his career. Silvers did a skit based on "Old Man River" and Berle joined him in a funny song-writer sketch. Then they introduced Merman.

The guests all stood for the star, a monument of the modern musical stage. She is supposed to be a tough broad, but she dissolved in tears.

She said falteringly: "I'm not very good at making speeches. I never made a speech in my life. But I want you to know that this is the most wonderful night of my life."

Then she sang. The Merman pipes need no amplification. She belted out "I'm Just a Lady With a Song." Then she broke into "I Got Rhythm," followed with "I Get a Kick Out of You" and then smashed into "There's No Business Like Show Business."

It is a tribute to her art that she could make that tired anthem sound like new.

An Open Letter from Bert and Harry Piel

Mr. E. Gordon Gibbs
Director of Advertising
Piel Bros.
Brooklyn and Staten Island, N. Y.

Sir:

Two years ago you stood in front of a Piels directors' meeting and said that Harry and I weren't doing a very good job selling Piels Beer. You told them that our kind of flamboyant personal selling went out with straw trolley car seats. To sell beer today, Piels must use today's advanced scientific methods of mass persuasion. In short, you said Harry and I were old-fashioned.

I suppose, E. Gordon Gibbs, if we'd known you better, we wouldn't have been so shocked. There you were, an efficiency expert hired by us two months before, challenging my brother and me, with sixty years between us in the business. You had our jobs to gain and nothing to lose. Well, Harry and I didn't even bother to speak up then, we were so sure that the directors would spot you for a phony. But they didn't, and we were out and you were in, and that was that.

That was two years ago. Now we're speaking up.

Now We Challenge You To A Public Debate

Maybe Harry and I were old-fashioned. We talked to our viewers as friends. We respected their good sense and good taste. We didn't show any diagrams of congested nasal passages at dinner time, if that's what you mean by modern selling.

We want to debate the issue, your way or our way, with the people as judges. Anywhere, anytime you like.

There will be another Piels directors' meeting in October. And this time Harry and I are not going to keep silent. We're going to try and get our jobs back. The directors will want to know what the people say.

Are you willing to hear the people speak, E. Gordon Gibbs?

Best Piel
Harry Piel

CAB to Study Service Of Mohawk Airlines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Possible suspension of Mohawk Airlines service to Jamestown and Olean, N.Y., will be considered by the Civil Aeronautics Board as part of what was termed a "use-it-or-lose it" investigation.

The board said that, during the last year, an average of fewer than five passengers a day had boarded Mohawk planes at the two Western New York cities.

The board said Tuesday that its study also would consider:

1. Whether its authorization to Mohawk to provide service at Auburn-Geneva and Oneonta, N.Y., and Meadville, Pa., should be discontinued. Because of inadequate airports, the airline has never inaugurated service at Oneonta and Meadville. Service at Auburn-Geneva was suspended in July 1956, after the nearby Sampson Air Force Base was deactivated.

2. Whether Mohawk's authority to serve Liberty-Monticello, N.Y., and Bradford, Pa., should be renewed. The airline has requested the renewal.

The CAB pointed out that Olean and Bradford are 21 miles apart and that Bradford is served by Allegheny Airlines on its east-west route.

The board said that because of the short distance between the two communities, the investigation would include possible consolidation of service to them at one airport.

Tuberculin Tests Slated at 1,600 At Wallkill School

More than 1,600 students, faculty and other school personnel of the Wallkill Central School System will have tuberculin tests Wednesday, Oct. 3 in a program sponsored for the school by Ulster County Department of Health, the Tuberculosis Hospital and Ulster County TB and Health Association, Inc.

Plans for the testing program were completed at a conference of the Public Health groups with school administrators late last week and on Tuesday, information on the status of Tuberculosis in Ulster County and Tuberculin testing methods were discussed with the faculty. Informational material and parental consent slips have been sent home with students to all parents.

Commissioner of Health Dr. E. Franklin Hall, stated the method of testing to be used is the Heaf method. Describing the test Dr. Hall said, "The Heaf Method of tuberculin testing is done by placing a drop of tuberculin on the forearm, and using a multipuncture instrument equipped with an automatic release over that area, the skin is punctured by six small points."

On October 9, an interpretation or reading of all tests will be made by a team of the participating doctors and nurses.

Dr. Hall said, "We do not expect to find a large number of positive reactors among students but in those instances where our interpretation is positive, we will advise the private physician who was named on the authorization form signed by all parents." "We sincerely hope" the commissioner said, "that those who are asked to be retested or to have a chest X-ray will cooperate in these health measures promptly."

Dr. Herbert F. Schwartz, a specialist in lung diseases, who is medical director at Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital, said, "Today, TB experts view this in a different light in years past. Presently it is believed that those persons who are positive tuberculin reactors can be helped to maintain their health throuh periodic examinations including regular chest X-rays and preventive treatment with modern drugs in certain specific situations."

Interprets Reaction

Dr. Schwartz emphasized that "a positive reaction does not, in itself, mean a person has active disease. It does, however, indicate, that the person has been in close contact with an individual who has or had active tuberculosis and that under certain circumstances they could have a breakdown and develop the disease."

Serving as coordinator for the project are Miss Hazel M. Steed, RN, of the TB Association and Miss Ann Hayes, supervising nurse with the Department of Health.

Miss Steed said today, "This marks the beginning of the fourth year of Tuberculin Testing using the Heaf Method here in Ulster County." Several years ago at the request of Saugerties Central School, this program was initiated. Since then 2,066 students have been tested in selected groups in Saugerties and Onteora Schools. Last Spring, 700 students in two Kingston Schools were done. Tuberculin testing for students is recommended by the health director of the State Education Department as a screening test to find children who will need special observation during their school career.

Port Ewen Pack Observes Theme On Age of Space

Cub Scout Pack 26 launched approximately 150 cubs, parents and friends into space at Port Ewen School, last week, in conjunction with the theme for September, "2000 AD." Cubmaster Kirk and the cubs were attired in colorful suits.

The cubs were led in games by the ideas committee of Dens 5 and 6, while the parents met with Cubmaster Fred Kirk. Commissioner Robert Tremper was introduced and explained the cub scouting boy-parent relationship.

Parents joined the boys for a welcome by Chairman Sylvester Brown. The opening ceremony was by Den 1—Doris Cole, den mother, Rose Triscari, assistant. Den Chief Charles Richers explained the scene on stage as their version of the American Flag raising at Iwo Jima. While cubs dressed appropriately raised the flag on the hill, taps were played by Cub Robert Cole.

Cubmaster Kirk then stepped from the spaceship behind the curtain in a bright red space suit to welcome all to Pack 26. Commissioner Tremper led those assembled in singing cub scout songs while the Rollicking Robots of Den 2, Wilma Lemister, den mother, were on stage for a space skit. In decorated carton suits they portrayed the year 2000 AD.

Astronauts met Moonmen on stage as Den 3, Annette Staley, den mother, Regina Sass, assistant, and Gary Larkin, den chief, lead them in a skit under the green light of the moon. Four of Akela's helpers came forward and gave meaning to the letters in Cubs, Frank Grommoll, C; Patrick O'Donnell, U; Kevin Rathjen, B; and Henry Case, S.

The induction of 15 Bobcats was conducted by Cubmaster Kirk. Bobcat pins were presented to the following boys whose parents stood with them: Matthew Granitto, Robert Scott, Kevin Kirk, Wardlow Hawes, Larry Valentine, David Romano, Dalton Pritchard, Ronald Latz, Stephan Rathbun, Stephan Zomkowski, Thomas Fisher, Stephen Soura, Michael Soura, George Davis and Michael Hlinka.

Gold and silver arrows under Wolf were presented to James Sass and Gene Sass by vice-chairman R. Valentine. Silver arrows under Wolf went to Douglas Staley, Henry Chase, Ronald and Wesley Clark.

Institutional Representative Robert Rathbun presented Bear Badges to Henry Chase and Wesley Clark; silver arrows under Bear to James Staley and Kendall Windram.

Cubmaster Kirk presented a one year attendance pin to Wayne Lemister and a two-year pin to Robert Cole. One-year service stars went to Henry Chase, Kendall Windram, Wayne Lemister, Kevin Rathjen, Sterling Atkins, and Douglas Staley. Two-year service stars went to James Staley, Ronald Chase, Vincent Provenzano, Robert Cole, Vincent Ferguson, Wesley Clark, Patrick O'Donnell. Denner strips to Larry Valentine, Kendall Windram, Joseph Orlando. Assistant Denner strips went to Joseph Kovac, Wayne Lemister, Douglas Staley; Cub Day at Camp strips to Cubmaster Kirk and Denmothers Alberta Hawes, Annette Staley and Wilma Lemister.

Cubs receiving Camp strips were Wayne Lemister, Douglas Staley, James Staley, Kevin Rathjen, Wardlow Hawes, David Romano, and Kevin Kirk. The attendance flag was presented to Denner Larry Valentine of Den 5-Alberta Hawes, Den-mother for 100% parent attendance.

Certificates of thanks were presented to last year's committee present and will be mailed to those not present. They are: Cubmaster, Harry Hults; Assistant cubmaster, Fred Staley; Assistant cubmaster, Wayland Eppard; I. R., Helen Oberkirch; sponsor PTA president, R. Firmbach; chairman, William Gould; commissioner member and former cubmaster Arlington Finch; commissioner members, Claude Boomhower, Herbert Ferguson, and treasurer, Angus Doyle. Also Denmothers J. Hail falls almost exclusive in violent or prolonged thunderstorms and never with the ground temperature below freezing. The stone is formed on a snow pellet nucleus, soft hail, and grows by collision with raindrops in much the same way that ice forms on aircraft.

Farmers Party Forms to Place Dems on Ticket

Because a group of interested men in Ulster County "want to bring to the attention of the Democratic and Republican Parties in the state that something has to be done for farmers, candidates from a third party have been entered on the ballot for the November elections.

The Farmers Party has registered with the Board of Elections Monday and has named as its candidates, Town of Gardiner Supervisor George Majestic for assemblyman and Frank Tantillo, Gardiner, for councilman for the Town of Gardiner.

Both are Democratic Party candidates for the same offices.

Dual Purpose Claimed

The Farmer's Party was organized for the dual purposes of protecting the New York State dairymen agianst laws of the state's fluid milk market and to assure a fair price for farm produce without raising the price to the consumer, according to Supervisor Majestic.

He claimed that Connecticut dairymen are getting an average of $1 more per hundredweight than New York State farmers sending their milk to the New York City-New Jersey Market.

"We should adopt laws similar to those in Connecticut to protect state dairy farmers," he said.

Majestic claims that there is "too much maneuvering in the state milk market.

The New York State Board of Health sends inspectors as far south as West Virginia to pass on milk plants and the out-of-state milk is flooding the market and lowering blend prices according to the Farmer's Party candidate.

He went on to say that the party is aiming to get the New York City-New Jersey market for state dairymen at the class one price, not the blend price. Majestic further claims that class three milk not subject to inspection is also flooding the market.

Major Complaint

One of the big complaints of the party is also the price received for milk by the dairymen serving the New York City-New Jersey market according to Majestic.

He said that the dairy farmer gets between seven and 10 cents per quart for milk delivered to the market and the consumer pays 25-35 cents per quart.

"A New York City deliveryman," Majestic said, "gets up to eight cents per quart he delivers and his only investment is the uniform he wears. That sometimes is paid for by his dealer. The average dairy farmer invests from $50,000 to $200,000."

The Gardiner Town supervisor also advocates an investigation of the entire milk industry. He owns and operates a hardware store in Gardiner and says he has worked very closely with area farmers for many years. Tantillo is a farmer in the Town of Gardiner.

Troop Use Looms

ment sources said the department was determined to carry through with Meredith's enrollment. They refused to forecast the department's next moves but they did not rule out the use of federal troops.

Barnett brushed aside a directive from the circuit court restraining him and virtually all of the state's peace officers from interfering with Meredith's registration.

Talks With RFK

Barnett met Meredith at the door of the State College Board office. He refused to accept copies of the court's directives and then read a proclamation asserting the state's sovereignty in the case.

Last Thursday Barnett personally took over powers as Ole Miss registrar and refused to let Meredith enroll at the university.

Meredith left the State Office Building encircled by Mississippi highway patrolmen as a crowd of 1,500 hooted and jeered. He flew to New Orleans.

He stopped briefly at the Jackson airport to talk on the telephone with U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

One of Meredith's lawyers said "the gist of the conversation was that he (Kennedy) assured Meredith that they would pursue the case until we get some satisfaction."

17 Taken From

don't remember much about the crash. It was certainly a shock."

The injured were taken to Mercy Hospital for treatment.

Supplies Are Needed

One of the helicopter pilots brought an urgent call from the Celerina for medical supplies.

The Celerina also said it was in great need of 100 pounds of meat, 50 pounds of rice and 50 pounds of flour to feed its unexpected guests. Arrangements were quickly made to send these supplies to the ship.

One of the survivors said on landing that contact with gasoline which spilled from the ditched plane had burned many who plunged into the sea, though there was no fire.

This account, by Pvt. William F. McGlothern of Cottage Hill, Fla., indicated the probable basis for an erroneous British report that there was a fire aboard the Celerina in which two persons were injured.

"We are most of us badly burned," McGlothern said. "There was no fire on the plane or on the Celerina, but while we were in the water after the ditching, the fuel was all around us. The high octane gasoline burned our bodies and the pain was bad. It even dissolved most of our clothes."

Will Go to England

St. L. C. Alfred Bodung of Indianapolis, Ind., had a head injury, but was able to walk.

"We waited for the crash," he said, "and when the plane hit the water my seat was hurled forward. My head struck something and I knew nothing else until I came to in the liferaft where the Celerina finally spotted us."

In London a U.S. Air Force spokesman said the injured would be flown as soon as possible to England and placed in a U.S. Air Force Hospital.

The Air Force sent a C47 to Cork with Col. John T. Heavey, command surgeon of the London-based 3rd Air Force, in charge.

600 Dead . . .

flooded the Ripoll and San Quirico rivers.

Rushing water toppled buildings and roared through streets.

Similar floods struck nearby towns.

At first, Barcelona people welcomed the rain because it was the first in nearly four months. But the downpour continued and about midnight people living in downtown districts began climbing to the highest stories of buildings trying to escape the swirling waters.

Many of Barcelona's two million inhabitants were breadless because bakeries were flooded. The drinking water was lacking in many districts.

IRS Men Freeze Theater Receipts Of Bout Showing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal tax agents moved into theaters throughout the nation Tuesday night and served orders freezing receipts from the television showing of the Sonny Liston-Floyd Patterson heavyweight championship fight.

In Boston Alvin M. Kelley, regional director for the Internal Revenue Service, said "the action taken this evening was to insure payments to the United States of taxes derived from the entertainments."

In almost every case the agents presented orders for the theater managers to freeze 55 per cent of th receipts. An Omaha, Neb., manager said that the order applied to the portion due the national holders of the national television rights to the fight, Graf, Reiner and Smith Enterprises, Inc., of Los Angeles.

A Charlotte, N.C., theater manager quoted an IRS official there as saying the government was trying to collect $1,710,500 allegedly owed the government by the firm.

Multi-Colored

tion engineer for the Ulster County Department of Health, also said that much of the problem is caused by the low supply of water in the district, but that maintenance needed in the plant is also a factor.

According to him, the ground water table is low due to the extended drought in the area. To completely rinse the ferrosand units in the plant, he explained that a 400-gallon per minute flow is necessary but that air begins to come into the pump suctions at about a 350-gallon-per-minute flow, thus the plant is operating on a very close margin as far as the final rinsing of the ferrosand units in their regeneration cycle is concerned.

Must Near Perfection

Edinger went on to explain that working with the narrow margin, the plant has to be in almost perfect operating condition if the quality of the water is to be adequate. He said that Hungerford and Terry Inc. of Clayton, N. J., the company that manufactures the equipment and makes maintenance recommendations for the plant, have given a report of maintenance required to the town board.

According to Edinger, the purple or pinkish water is caused by the presence of potassium permanganate, a chemical used to regenerate the ferrosand after the material has removed a fixed amount of iron from the water.

The brown and orange colored water, according to the chief sanitation engineer, is caused by oxidized iron in the water. He explained that the water, as it is available to the pump, contains approximately 50 pounds of iron per million gallons of water. This must be reduced to one-half pound of iron per million gallons.

Is Safe for Use

The iron removal units take the iron out of solution and store it in the ferrosand units. Periodically the material must be removed from the units, necessitating the use of the permanganate.

Edinger said that the water is not entirely acceptable, but that it is safe for domestic consumption. He also said that the pump plant has adequate capacity for the water district. According to him, the well, when originally developed, was pump tested for 650 gallons per minute and that its normal capacity is around 450 gallons per minute.

He further said that he recommended that the town board have the plant completely surveyed by the manufacturing and maintenance firm. This was done and the company has recommended maintenance work to be done on the plant according to him.

After several ballots the trustees finally gave unanimous approval to the Stone Ridge site.

The site selected consists of approximately 85 acres, and there is assurance of additional acreage should future needs require additional land. Located off Route 209 at the northerly edge of Stone Ridge, the property is located on Cottekill Road but also has access to Route 209 over a right of way.

Military Ballot Applications Due By October 25

Charles Culver, counselor of the New York State Division of Veterans' Affairs and John Tyler, director of the Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency, issued a final reminder to the citizens of New York State who are now serving in the Armed Forces that they will be eligible to cast military ballots in the general election this year.

Completed applications for the military ballot must be received on or before Oct. 25, by the Division of Servicemen's Voting, Albany, or the Board of Elections of the home county of residence of the military voter on or before Oct. 26. These applications may be filed in person at the Board of Elections until noon of Nov. 3.

Persons serving in the Armed Forces, their spouses, parents and in a few cases, children who accompany them, are eligible to apply for the military ballot and vote in the election.

Families having a member in service were urged by Culver and Tyler to visit their offices and obtain the military ballot applications they need. The veteran officials emphasized that the applications should be sent by the home front to members of the Armed Forces or their dependents who are eligible to vote, in time for them to complete the application and return it in advance of the deadline date.

Applications may be secured at Culver and Tyler's office, 32 Main Street, Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

RetiredMinisterQuestions His Utility Share Offering

Q) "I am a retired minister with a small pension plus Social Security. I am concerned about a stock I own. I hold Iowa Public Service which is offering its shareholders 320,468 shares of common at $21 a share. Why is the company offering so much stock for sale and why the $21 price when the stock is quoted near 25?" R.H.

A) I don't believe you need to have the slightest concern about your Iowa Public Service stock. Public utilities are constantly expanding and your company is currently spending 15 million dollars to improve its facilities.

As to the offer to shareholders under the market, this is accepted practice among utility companies and there is nothing unusual about your offer. American Telephone, giant of them all, has been doing it for years.

Iowa Public Service is a strong, well-managed utility, well worth holding for its excellent yield.

Q) "What do you think of the following stocks I own for their ability to recover market values lost in the recent declines: Westinghouse Electric; Bethlehem Steel; General Portland Cement? Would you consider switching any of these stocks into Firestone; Freeport Sulphur; Parke, Davis; Avco; Penick & Ford?" C.A.

A) I think the stocks you hold will be very slow to recover values lost in the 1962 decline.

Westinghouse has made good progress in cost control but earnings are below their level of the early '50's and the dividends have been barely covered this year.

Bethlehem has been hurt badly by the squeeze on profit margins and I don't consider the present dividend on these shares to be safe.

General Portland Cement is in an industry that suffers from overproduction. Earnings have been lagging and the dividend here, too, looks insecure.

I think you would be better off owning Firestone, Avco and Penick & Ford.

SYLVIA SIDNEY

Phoenix Theatre to Present Sylvia Sidney In Wilder's 'Matchmaker' at Vassar College

New York's celebrated Phoenix Theatre is bringing its Acting Company here on October 8, 9 and 10 to present for three performances Thornton Wilder's great comedy smash, "The Matchmaker", starring Sylvia Sidney in the title role. The engagement is sponsored by the New York State Council On the Arts as a part of its program to bring the excitement of live theatre to communities throughout the state. The performance will be given in Avery Hall, Vassar College.

In support of Miss Sidney will be a selected cast of the Phoenix group, including Ralph Dunn, Sada Thompson, Gwyda Don-Howe, Joleen Fodor, Jo Ponazecki, Woody Romoff, and Ralph Williams.

One of Pulitzer prize-winner Wilder's most outstanding plays, "The Matchmaker" ran for more than a year on Broadway to the delight of hat-tossing, cheering audiences, preceded by a similarly sensational run in London where it was first produced.

Seldom have the New York critics been so unrestrained in their enthusiasm, and the day following the premiere long lines of eager theatre-goers formed before the Royale Theatre, and did not diminish for many months.

Here are excerpts from all the New York reviewers:

Brooks Atkinson in The Times: "Pure theatre and also a wonderfully exuberant stage entertainment. Fabulous and funny. An uproarious theatrical prank. A comic volcano."

Walter Kerr in the Herald-Tribune: "A wonderfully comic play. Gales of laughter."

Richard Watts, Jr., in The Post: "Dash, relish, and sheer uproarious gusto. A masterpiece of laughter."

Climaxing a brilliant and varied career in the theatre, Miss Sidney's role of the matchmaker who finds husbands for eager ladies but who is shrewd enough to repel the opposition and land the prize catch of all for herself, is, as she herself put it: "The most exciting and satisfying I have ever played. I am thrilled beyond measure."

Director of the current production is Harold Prince, who produced many hits on Broadway, among them "Take Her, She's Mine" and "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way to the Forum." The sets were designed by Norris Houghton, co-managing director with T. Edward Hambleton of the Phoenix Theatre, the costumes are by Patricia Zipprodt and the lighting is by Joan Larkey.

Founded In 1953

Not yet ten years old, the Phoenix Theatre has piled up a monumental record of theatrical achievement.

Founded in 1953 by T. Edward Hambleton and Norris Houghton, the latter just recently appointed director of the Vassar Drama Department, the establishment of the Phoenix Theatre had one main objective: to operate a theatre away from the pressures of Broadway where established actors, directors, and other theatrical talents could work and where plays of unusual interest could be offered for limited runs.

During the first season, four critical and popular hits were produced: "Madam, Will You Walk," with Jessica Tandy and Hume Cronyn; "Coriolanus," with Robert Ryan; and "The Golden Apple" and "The Sea Gull" with Montgomery Clift. Testimony to the success of the new formula was that the musical "The Golden Apple" which had been rejected by Broadway producers won the Drama Critics Circle prize and moved up to Broadway after its limited run at the downtown Phoenix.

In the following years, outstanding Phoenix productions included "Phoenix '55," starring Nancy Walker; Pirandello's "Six Characters in Search of an Author," staged by Sir Tyrone Guthrie; Turgenev's "A Month in the Country" with Uta Hagen and Luther Adler; "Saint Joan" starring Siobhan McKenna; "Mary Stuart" starring Eva Le Gallienne and Irene Worth; "The Power and the Glory"; "The Great God Brown"; "Peer Gynt"; "Henry IV" parts 1 and 2; "She Stoops to Conquer"; "The Octoroon"; "Hamlet"; "Pirates of Penzance"; and of course the current production of "The Matchmaker."

OFFERING DAUGHTER'S OUTGROWN DRESSES TO NEIGHBOR

Q: My next-door neighbor with whom I am quite friendly has four children. One of her daughters is a year younger than my daughter, who is an only child. From what my neighbor tells me, she has rather a hard time making ends meet. I have several dresses my daughter has outgrown and that are practically brand new. I would be only too happy to give them to my neighbor's daughter, but I hesitate to do so for fear of hurting her feelings and making her feel like a charity case. Would it be proper to offer them to her?

A: I am sure it will not hurt your neighbor's feelings if you tell her that your daughter is growing so fast that there are several practically brand new dresses she can no longer wear and that you will be delighted if her Mary would like to have them.

A Tip for the Bartender

Q: On occasion when dining out with guests and we have to wait for a table, we usually have a cocktail at the bar before going into dinner. My husband always gives the bartender a very generous tip, which I think is wholly unnecessary. If we sat at a small table and had the waiter serve the cocktails, the waiter would of course be given a tip, but I don't think that a tip is necessary when seated at the bar. May I have your opinion, please?

A: A tip is customarily given to the bartender.

Letters of Introduction

Q: My daughter's husband has just been transferred to the West Coast and she is going out there to live. Some of her friends have given her letters of introduction to their friends on the Coast. Exactly what does she do with these letters? Does she mail them or take them in person to the houses of those to whom she is being introduced?

A: She mails them and does nothing further until she hears from the people to whom they are addressed.

Three Kingston High School Students Named Semifinalists in Scholarship Competition

Principal M. Clifford Miller of Kingston High School has announced that three of the school's students have been named Semifinalists in the 1962-63 Merit Scholarship competition.

He said they became Semifinalists through their outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, the first step in the eighth annual Merit Program. The students cited for their high achievement are:

Allen E. Hinkey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell A. Hinkey of Woodcrest, Rifton, N. Y.;

Richard P. Kline, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Kline of 10 Len Court;

Robert S. Whiston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Whiston of 135 Linderman Avenue.

They are among approximately 11,000 seniors throughout the country who attained Semifinalist status. Each Semifinalist now moves a step closer to winning a four-year Merit Scholarship to the college of his choice.

The qualifying examination, a test of educational development, was given in more than 16,000 high schools last March. The Semifinalist group is composed of the highest scoring students in each state and in United States territories.

The Semifinalist group represents a constant percentage of each year's high school graduating class nationally. In previous years about 10,000 Semifinalists were named annually. The number of Semifinalists this year is 11,000 because of the increased number of students to be graduated in 1963.

John M. Stalnaker, president of the nonprofit National Merit Scholarship Corporation, described the Semifinalists as "representative of the best of a new generation of young people who are increasingly conscious of the importance of intellectual achievement.

"The qualities and aspirations of the semifinalists typify the abilities and goals of the country's most able youth. Although we must be concerned about juvenile delinquents, we should focus our attention too on youngsters such as these students. They are ambitious, level-headed, hard-working and very able.

"We should recognize also that, by encouraging these characteristics, their parents and teachers have played a big part in their success. Similarly, the development of the intellectually talented depends as well on the level of support a community gives its schools and the extent to which adults in general respect intellectual attainment.

"It is for such reasons that the semifinalists bring honor not only to themselves, but also to their parents, their schools and their communities."

To increase their opportunities to obtain financial assistance if they need it, the Merit Corporation sends the names of semifinalists to all accredited colleges and universities and to other scholarship-granting agencies and financial aid sources. Studies show that about 50 per cent of the semifinalists obtain financial aid from sources other than the Merit Program.

The semifinalists will take another rigorous examination, the three-hour Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board, to be given in testing centers throughout the country on December 1, 1962.

Students whose scores on the second test substantiate their performance on the qualifying test and who are endorsed by their high schools will become finalists in the competition. In past years, about 97 per cent of the semifinalists have become finalists. All finalists receive a Certificate of Merit in recognition of their outstanding performance in the program.

As finalists the students will be eligible for scholarship awards sponsored by NMSC and about 150 business corporations, foundations, unions, professional associations, and individuals.

In the final phase of the competition, the high school grades, creative accomplishments, leadership qualities, extracurricular activities, and school citizenship of the students will be evaluated along with their scores on the tests.

About April 24, 1963, the names of the Merit Scholars will be announced, the exact number depending on the extent of sponsor support of the Merit Program. In 1962 NMSC and sponsors together awarded 1,050 Merit Scholarships.

Each Merit Scholarship is a four-year award to cover the undergraduate college years. The recipient's stipend is tailored to his need.

For Merit Scholars who require financial assistance, awards may reach a maximum of $6,000 for the four years of college. For students who already possess financial resources which will enable them to attend the colleges of their choice, the awards are $400 for the four years. Stipends now average about $850 a year.

A Merit Scholarship is also a form of "educational insurance" for the student who receives it, because the amount of the stipend will be increased at any time while he is in college if there is a significant change in his family's financial situation.

Finalists designate the college they wish to attend and the course of study they plan to pursue. The colleges chosen by the Merit Scholars in most instances also receive supplementary grants.

The Merit Program was established in 1955 with grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York. In April 1962 the Ford Foundation announced an additional grant to continue the program through 1970.

NMSC and sponsors have thus far contributed about $14 million in direct financial assistance to nearly 6,000 students and their colleges. This amount is exclusive of obligations to the 3,300 Merit Scholars now in college. In addition, through the program's special services, thousands of other outstanding participants have been helped in obtaining aid from other sources, and colleges have been assisted in their efforts to locate the intellectually able.

Irving Berlin Play 'Mr. President' Is Hit in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedys, who live in the White House, said they liked "Mr. President," the new musical comedy about a fictional chief executive.

They saw the show Tuesday night and the President said he thought it "very good."

The hep Washington audience didn't seem to take too happily to the mythical "Mr. President." But no matter what anybody thought of the show, which brought songwriter Irving Berlin, 74, out of retirement, the preview benefit was a smash hit.

Celebrities, socialites and top officials in glamorous black tie attire jammed the National Theater to see the fictional First Family on the stage and President and Mrs. Kennedy in person.

Robert Ryan played the president and Nanette Fabray his wife in the Russel Crouse-Howard Linssay musical.

The glittering benefit audience contributed more than $70,000 to a favorite Kennedy family charity to aid retarded children.

The 600, who bought orchestra seats at $100 a ticket—joined the Kennedys at a jammed but gay champagne supper dance at the British Embassy.

The President and his wife stayed until 2:40 a.m. joining in the dancing to many Berlin tunes of yesteryear.

West Camp Church Sets Oct. 18 for Traditional Dinner

The traditional fall harvest dinner of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church at West Camp will be held Thursday, Oct. 18 with servings at 5:30 and 6:30 p. m. in the parish hall.

J. Charles Stewart of Cementon and Albert J. Cawein of Blue Mountain will be ticket co-chairmen for the dinner which has been traditional for over 200 years.

The church founded by the Palatines in 1710 first instituted the feast on Thanksgiving for members of the congregation. In the past decade friends of the congregation were invited and the date was changed to accommodate the larger table settings.

Last year the dinner was completely sold out and no tickets were sold at the door. This year's dinner will be a benefit for the church building fund. In the fall of 1961 the $40,000 remodeling program was completed in time for the observance of the 250th anniversary of the church.

Miss Carol Pennisi, Richard Murphy Are Wed September 22nd

PHOENICIA — The marriage of Miss Carol Pennisi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Salvatore Pennisi of New York City and Richard Murphy, son of Mrs. Marceline Rider was solemnized Saturday, Sept. 22 at 2 p. m. in St. Francis de Sales Church, Phoenicia.

The Rev. John Gorman, MS, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Vases of white gladioli were on the altar and white satin ribbon marked the family pews.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a white silk organza gown with fitted bodice trimmed with rose point lace. The bouffant skirt had a panel of lace down the back to form a train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place with a princess crown of crystals and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and stephenotis.

The bride's aunt, Lois Giambrone of New York was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Lois Guido and Irene Pignatelli. All attendants were dressed alike in cerise faille sheaths with an overskirt in back, feathered pill box hats with circular veils and carried cascade bouquets of painted daisies and tiny rose buds shading to light pink.

Jack Murphy was best man for his brother. Ushers were Lester Foster and Burdett Booth.

Mrs. Elizabeth Saunders of Highmount was organist and soloist.

A reception was held in the Governor Clinton Hotel, Kingston, for approximately 125 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will reside in their new home in Phoenicia.

Bard College Theatre Offers Annual Triple Bill; Opens Sept. 29

The first production of the new fall season at the Bard College Theatre, Annandale-on-Hudson, opening on Saturday, Sept. 29, and running through October 2, will be an unusual triple bill of important modern plays. The program will begin with August Strindberg's early realist study of the woman who discovers that the husband she holds so dear is in fact lost to an earlier and more potent love.

In this, Abigail Rosen is the leading player; in the next play, Tennessee Williams, "This Property Is Condemned," she is the director. Here, from some sixty years later, we have a poetic and wryly sympathetic picture of a delinquent girl. Finally, this bird's-eye view of the modern theatre is completed with Samuel Beckett's "Krapp's Last Tape," a play of the avant-garde which ran for two seasons recently off-Broadway. Its two characters, 69-year-old Krapp and himself, on tape, at thirty-nine, are both played by Robert Bauer. Together the three plays should make a fascinating evening, and reservations—all seats are free—may be had by mail from Box 284, Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y.

Mrs. Wiggie de Lisio Will Bid For National Seniors Title

The 1962 New York State Women's Senior golf champion, Mrs. A. J. (Wiggie) de Lisio of Woodstock will bid for the United States Golf Association title at Oreland, Pa. in October.

The National Women's Senior, the newest competition on the USGA annual calender, will be played Oct. 17-18-19 at the Manufacturers Golf and Country Club in Oreland, Pa., a suburb of Philadelphia.

Entries for the first women's senior competition close on Oct. 13 at Golf House in New York. Women amateur golfers who will have reached their 50th birthday by Oct. 17 and whose handicaps do not exceed 15 strokes are eligible by invitation. The field is expected to include 100 golfers chosen from across the nation.

The 54-hole championship is entirely at stroke play, with an 18-hole round slated for each of the three days. Automotive transportation during play is prohibited.

WIGGIE de LISIO

Had Great Season

Mrs. de Lisio, Ulster county women's champion for the past four years, has a 3 handicap at Woodstock Country Club. She shoots consistently in the 70s at the village links and holds the all-time women's record of 66.

This has been one of Mrs. de Lisio's most productive years on the lanes. In addition to successfully defending her Ulster county title, she captured the New York State Women's Seniors in her first try at Rome. She also posted low gross in numerous area invitationals.

The 1962 season opened on a high note for the Woodstock ace. In early spring, she captured the coveted Florida West Coast match game title and in previous years won the Sunset Country Club title at St. Petersburg, Florida, her winter residence.

Weatherly Defeats Gretel To Capture America's Cup

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Matilda will not waltz tonight.

The old America's Cup stays in its New York Yacht Club showcase until Britain takes the next crack at it, probably in a year or two.

An English challenge is expected, and yacht club officials said it would be accepted if it is received in the next 30 days.

The gallant Australian bid for the 111-year-old America's Cup ended in the gathering gloom off Newport Tuesday, when the American defender Weatherly ground the Aussie sloop Gretel into the sea by a half-mile margin.

The victory gave the Americans the cup series, four races to one.

It was the 18th unsuccessful challenge for the ornate old $500 silver mug.

The gallant Australian bid was doomed to join the ill-fated prewar challenges of Sir Thomas Lipton and T.O.M. Sopwith early in the final race.

Weatherly skipper Bus Mosbacher Jr., rated the best man in the world at handling a skittish sailing ship into the wind, jumped off to a lead within minutes after the start.

Except for one stirring Aussie rally on the third leg, which Mosbacher brushed off by saving racing water, Weatherly added steadily to the lead, which mounted to 3 minutes and 40 seconds at the end.

As the two crews slumped to the deck at the finish, fire boats shot streams of water into the air, and skyrockes and Roman candles pierced the gloom.

Weatherly broke out champagne which had been carefully hidden below deck. It was well shaken up by the choppy sea, whipped up by almost perfect racing winds ranging from 10 to 16 knots, with gusts in the 20's.

At dockside, there were more champagne toasts all around, while a blimp flashed congratulations from overhead.

Genuine Respect

The crews shared genuine respect, and the Aussies had become so popular in this historic city that Americans in the spectator fleet and on shore felt a strong tug at their parioism as the challenge unfolded.

The Aussie victory in the second race was the first for a challenger since 1934.

Gretal took the second by 56 seconds, to set off a all-night celebration.

The strains of "Waltzing Matilda" rocked the Newport waterfront all that night.

Erratic winds and Mosbacher seamanship smashed Aussie hopes of an upset, as the Americans sped to an 8 minute, 40 second victory in the third race, but the Aussies battled back and lost by only 26 seconds in the fourth.

Tuesday, Gretal stole the jockeying start on Mosbacher, but the American skipper maneuvered Weatherly into the lead within 20 minutes and was never headed, to end the first Australian challenge for the old mug.

Koufax Status Gives Yankees Pitching Edge

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Unless Sandy Koufax makes a quick and complete recovery, the New York Yankees are likely to have an edge in pitching over the Los Angeles Dodgers in the World Series opening Oct. 3.

On paper, the Dodgers have it all over the Yankees on the mound. Los Angeles pitchers have worked 43 complete games compared to only 32 for the Yankees. They have a combined earned run average of 3.63. The Yanks are at 3.72.

However, the figures are deceiving because Koufax' pre-injury showing makes the Dodgers' figures more attractive. Before he suffered a damaged finger on his pitching hand two months ago, the left-hander put together a 14-5 record, a 2.35 ERA and went the distance 11 times in 23 starts. But in his two appearances since then last week, Sandy yielded five runs in 2 2-3 innings and sustained his sixth setback.

The setup for the first three games is likely to be Whitey Ford (16-8), Ralph Terry (22-12) and Bill Stafford (14-8) for New York and Don Drysdale (25-8), Stan Williams (13-12) and Johnny Podres (14-12) for the Dodgers. Ford and Podres are the southpaws in this group. The combined won-lost records for the probable pitchers are: Yankees 52-28 and the Dodgers 52-32.

Alston's Gamble Doesn't Work; Yankees Clinch 27th AL Flag

LA Loses, 3-2, To Houston Team; Giants on Top

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Walt Alston, the close-to-the-vest Los Angeles manager, turned riverboat gambler in a bold bid to deal his first-place Dodgers a step closer to the National League pennant jackpot with an ace-in-the-hole hand. But second-place San Francisco picked up the chips.

Alston named his ace, 25-game winner Don Drysdale, to start against Houston Tuesday night with only one day's rest. Drysdale succeeded in his iron-man effort, but Al Spangler ruined Alston's hand with a 10th inning home run off Ed Roebuck that gave the Colts a 3-2 decision over the Dodgers.

The defeat trimmed a full game off Los Angeles' lead and left them only two games in front of the pursuing Giants, who closed in as Willie Mays continued his hot hitting and Jack Sanford posted his 23rd triumph in a 4-2 decision over St. Louis.

The loss left the Dodgers' pennant-clinching number at four. Any combination of four Los Angeles victories or San Francisco defeats will clinch it for the Dodgers. Each team has five games remaining.

Will Face Yankees

The winner will face the New York Yankees, who clinched their 27th American League pennant — their third in a row—by whipping Washington 8-3 while second-place Minnesota took a 5-1 pasting from the Cleveland Indians. Either result would have ended the race. The combination gave the Yanks a 5½ game lead.

Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati's defending champions nailed down third place by edging Pittsburgh 2-1 as Bob Purkey posted his 23rd victory, and Milwaukee's Warren Spahn tied Eddie Plank as the winningest left-hander in major league history by recording his 326th career triumph, 7-3 over the New York Mets. Chicago and Philadelphia were not scheduled.

Drysdale, who last pitched Sunday and was making his third start in six days, gave up a run in the first on a walk, an error by Maury Wills, Norm Larker's force out and an error by Larry Burright. The Dodgers evened it in the sixth when Wills beat out a bunt, stole second, advanced to third on a grounder and stole home—his 99th theft. The Colts moved back out front in the seventh as J. C. Hartman beat out a bunt and came across on a triple by Spangler. Singles by Tommy Davis and Frank Howard and a sacrifice fly by John Roseboro got the Dodgers even again in their half.

Roebuck Is Loser

It stayed that way until the 10th when Roebuck made his 58th appearance, sporting a 10-0 record. He got Carl Warwick to ground out, but Spangler lined a homer into the right field stands to win it and tag Roebuck with his first loss since Aug. 8, 1960. Dick Farrell (10-19), a former Dodger, went the distance for the victory.

At San Francisco, the Cardinals broke out front against Sanford (23-7) with a run in the fifth on singles by Ken Boyer and Gary Kolb plus a run-producing double play. But the Giants moved ahead to stay in the sixth with two runs off Ernie Broglio (11-9) on singles by Chuck Hiller, Matty Alou, Mays and Orlando Cepeda. A seventh-inning run for the Giants on a double by Tom Haller and Harvey Kuenn's single turned out to be the decisive tally when Bill White homered for St. Louis in the ninth.

Lebanon Finale Set Saturday

Lebanon Valley Speedway rings down the 1962 season with a Season's Championship 100-Lap stock car race. The feature victory will be worth $1,000 of a whopping $4,250 jackpot for the night. Thirty three cars are expected to start.

The race will also serve as a proving grounds for many of the area's top stars who have qualified for the nationals at Langhorne Speedway (Pa.) on Oct. 14.

Esopus Bridge Club Has First Session

Mrs. John Olivet and Mrs. I. H. Wheatcroft of Kingston paced the opening duplicate bridge game of the newly formed Esopus Valley Bridge Club at Phoenicia.

Other results were: Dr. John Olivet-I. H. Wheatcroft, Kingston, second; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Crisafulli, Boiceville, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Peck, Woodland, tied for third; Carl Kunz and Dr. John Comstock, Kingston, fourth.

Sports Car Club Sets Road Rally At Saugerties

The Catskill Mountain Sports Car Club has scheduled a "Photo" road rally for Sunday, Sept. 30, at 12 noon, starting from Lee's Servicenter in Saugerties.

Dave Hoffman and Dick Bergen are in charge of the planning and running of the rally. Tim Moore, president, has called the rally an anniversary event as the club marks its first year as an organized sports club. Due to the wide variety of events that were planned, the club was incorporated at the beginning of the year.

Club members have recently participated in rallys and gymkhanas in Middletown, Albany, Kingston and Saugerties. Marion Hubbard, Dave Hoffman, Dick Bergen and Bill Nieffer participated in a "Drivers School" sponsored by the Hartford Sports Car Club at Lime Rock.

Club officers are: Tim Moore, president; Bill Plimley, vice president; Gay Gerlack, secretary; and Bill Nieffer, treasurer.

Club meetings are held on the third Friday of the month at 9 p. m. at Lee's Servicenter, Saugerties, with the next meeting slated Oct. 19. All interested persons are invited. A charity-donation gymkhana is planned for the Kingston area in October.

They finally did it.

The New York Yankees finally clinched the 1962 American League pennant.

As a rousing anticlimax to a lackluster campaign, the Yankees got the one they needed Tuesday night by beating Washington's last place Senators 8-3.

Two of the Yankees' long-time stars, left-hander Whitey Ford and slugger Mickey Mantle, led the Bombers to the deciding victory. Ford was the winning pitcher, Mantle paced the 16-hit attack with four singles.

Moments after the final out, and with the flag safely in Yankee possession, the Cleveland Indians polished off New York's closest 5-1. That left the Yanks 5½ games in front with four to play.

For the Yankees, perhaps the most highly favored pennant choice since they started playing Abner Doubleday's pasttime for keeps, it is their 27th league title, their 12th in the last 14 years and their third straight.

Was Slow Process

But it was a long time coming. Slowed down by injuries to Mantle, Ford and last year's relief standout, Luis Arroyo, and hampered by subpar play on the part of several other key men, the Yankees never were really able to take charge. Dawdling along on their own, and forced to withstand the surprise challenges of the Twins and the Los Angeles Angels, what was expected to be a season-long romp became a season-long struggle.

Detroit nipped Los Angeles 3-2 when Al Kaline tripled in two unearned runs after two were out in the last of the ninth inning and Boston blanked Chicago 4-0 on Bill Monbouquette's five-hit pitching. Kansas City at Baltimore was postponed because of threatening weather.

Pedro Ramos, an ex-Twin, beat Minnesota on seven hits and bested his fellow Cuban and former teammate, Camilo Pascual, who was after his 20th victory. Harmon Killebrew shot the Twins into a brief lead when he hit his 46th homer in the top of the second but the Indians took command in their half of the inning on Woodie Held's two-run homer.

Milestone For Spahn: No. 326

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Milwaukee wonder Warren Spahn has reached another milestone in his fabulous career and has no intentions of ending his assault on baseball records. Already he's looking forward to 1962.

"I'm not ready to quit; I want to win 20 next year," Spahn said Tuesday night after he tied Eddie Plank as history's top left-handed winner and stopped the New York Mets 7-3 for his 326th lifetime victory.

With a start against Pittsburgh scheduled for Saturday, the 41-year-old pitching marvel has a chance to become undisputed king of the southpaws before heading for his Hartshorne, Okla., ranch for the winter.

One more victory will enable Spahn to take sole possession of ninth place among all-time winners from Plank, who won 326, including 21 in the outlaw Federal League, from 1901-17. Plank had 305 victories for Philadelphia and St. Louis in the American League.

Lost Tough Ones

With a 17-14 record, the southpaw ace who won his first game for the Braves in 1946, reviewed what he called a "whacky year." Half of his losses have been by one run and two others were 2-0 and 3-1 decisions.

"It's been kind of a dismal season all around," he said. "The club finishing fifth and my failing to win 20 for the fourth time since my first full year with it has made it that way.

"I haven't pitched a shutout and I've lost one-run games that I should have won, but I hesitate to call it hard luck. When you start feeling sorry for yourself, you're in trouble. Hard luck or no hard luck, actually I think I've pitched more consistently this season—whether better or not I don't know."

A penny can make your drink taste better.

No, don't add it to the drink.

Add it to the price. Spend a penny more per drink for your whiskey.

And get in return, a whiskey made from grains graded #1 and #2. (The best there are, says the government.)

A whiskey that starts out with more good character to its flavor.

And stays that way. Because it's blended with choice grain neutral spirits in a special, costlier way—to keep that good character alive in your drinks.

A whiskey known, in two well-known words, as Four Roses.

Ice can't melt away its authority. Mix can't mix it away. (Prove it, for example, in your next whiskey sour.)

These being the facts, the surprise is not that Four Roses costs more. But that it costs so little more.

Your investment in a bottle comes to about a penny more a drink.

A better drink, that is.

Liston Promises Patterson Rematch as Soon as Possible

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—A new Charles (Sonny) Liston today promised to be a world heavyweight champion in shining armor and also to give Floyd Patterson a rematch as soon as possible.

A cruel-punching strong man, Liston, 28, slammed the door of sudden fame on a shady past Tuesday night by exploding the long-suspected Patterson myth in 126 seconds of their hullabalooed title match in Comiskey Park.

In the third fastest finish in heavyweight boxing history, 2:06 of the first round, Liston crumpled Patterson to the canvas with a couple of ponderous left hooks.

Before a disappointing paid crowd of 18,894 and a whopping closed circuit television audience had time to dig into their popcorn, the fight had ended in stunning fashion.

Not So Surprising

Perhaps not so stunning, because it long was felt that the canny Cus D'Amato, Patterson's guiding angel, had wrapped his boy in cotton. Floyd's championship path mainly avoided what real punchers were around since Patterson, then 21, first won the crown in 1956 by flattening an overstuffed Archie Moore.

Ingemar Johansson, whose "toonder right" unexpectedly dethroned Patterson in 1959, best described D'Amato's boy against the hulking Liston, who outweighted the champion, 214 to 189.

"Patterson looks like a little baby tonight," said Ingo, who may get a shot at Liston after the new champ has his return match with Patterson.

Patterson, whose catastrophic finish had been foreshadowed in 12 knockdowns in previous title bouts, wants another go at Liston within three months.

Champ Is Ready

That could be a big mistake, except that, financially, Patterson could sell his lion's take as a loser by sharing a 30-30 split of the return match receipts.

Liston is ready at any time.

Liston had rushed over to Patterson after referee Frank Sikora threw his arms around the wobbly ex-champion following his knockout count.

"He told me if the public gives me a chance, I can be a worthy champion, maybe a better champion than he was.

"I think I can prove just that —if the public gives me a chance," added the poker-faced Liston.

The Comiskey Park gross receipts were announced as $665,420 and the net $556,119.95.

The big swag comes Thursday when the closed circuit television reports are filed. Patterson's take on the basis of the live gate and a guaranteed $2 million from television was an estimated $1,185,253 and Liston—pegged at a 12½ take of all net receipts — should get a minimum of $282,015.

Moore Steals the Show At Heavyweight Fight

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

What excitement there was in the ring at Comiskey Park, Chicago last night was made before Charles "Sonny" Liston used his devastating punch on the china chin of heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson.

Prior to the "fight", the ring announcer was introducing the champions and former champions in the audience. When he announced the name of Archie Moore, fans in the park and those watching on closed circuit television, received a jolt when Moore walked up the ring steps, clad in a black cape and carrying a flashy cane. He looked a little like Batman and even resembled a crown prince. Of all those introduced, Archie certainly stole the show.

Those who watched the bout at the Cathalia Hotel and Restaurant, outside Ellenville, had one consolation. Their tab also included a buffet. If they didn't arrive early enough to eat and started to get in the food line the same time as the fight began, chances are they missed the 2 minute, 6 second knockout of the champion.

In fact, it was only after a rerun of the knockout that many of the 800 in the giant dining room saw how Liston made short work of the champion. To this observer, it looked as if Sonny used a right hand to the side of the head, a left to the same section and then a short left hook, thrown at very close range.. The second punch made Floyd's knees wobbly and the third put him on the deck, a familiar sight for those who have seen Patterson in previous bouts.

Floyd was dazed in addition to being hurt. Even at the count of 10, he was still in another world and, if he had managed to beat the count, there's no doubt it would have only served to give Liston a little more time in which to put him away for keeps.

Those who paid as high as $10 to see the fight on closed circuit television have one consolation. There were many more who paid as high as $100 to see the fight in the flesh and that comes to about $50 a minute.

Left Hook Starts, Finishes Patterson in the First Round

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—"If the public will accept me I'll be a good champ."

So said Sonny Liston, a former convict who ascended the throne of boxing's most valuable championship.

In just 2 minutes, 6 seconds, Liston knocked out defending champion Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight title, earning approximately $400,000 for the brief, brisk workout. He is now on the threshold of earning millions.

"If the public will allow me a chance to let bygones be bygones, I could be a good champ," said the surprisingly poised new champion.

As for the fast and stunning finish, Liston said "I started it with a left hook and ended it with a left hook.

"I hit him with a left hook and he tied me up," said Liston. "The referee said to break and he grabbed the ropes. That gave me the idea he was hurt and I hit him with a couple of good lefts. That was it."

Asked bout the contracted return bout, Liston said "it was too quick" even to think about the time and place, but added "I'd like one as soon as possible."

They have a return clause calling for the second fight within a year.

"I don't want to wait a year," said Patterson. "Maybe within three months."

The shocked ex-champion kept newsmen waiting for about 30 minutes following the startling finish while he talked in his dressing room with Manager Cus D'Amato, the man who started him on the road to the title.

"I will know in about a week about a return fight," said Patterson. "Liston's punches are something you see coming. I was hit by a good punch and it had some kind of effect. Liston is in a better position to know. I have no excuses."

Syracuse Is Picked To Beat Army Squad

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Can you ever recall a greater midweek sports extravaganza? Title fights . . . yacht racing . . . pennant clinchings . . . college and pro football classics!

It is enough to make one dizzy. At least dizzier than last week when 36 of 42 college football games that reached a decision were forecast correctly. That's an opening-of-the-season average of .857.

Here are this week's picks:

Ohio State over North Carolina: The Ohioans were the Big Ten champions last season and have added the stars from the 1961 freshman team, one of the best ever, to their roster. The Big Tenners are too big, too numerous and too good.

Princeton over Rutgers: These two started it all back there in 1869. For the past three years Rutgers has beaten Princeton but this time the Tigers get revenge.

Oklahoma over Notre Dame: The Irish still tinkering with their backfield. Oklahoma especially strong along the line which is led by Wayne Lee at center. The day's television morsel.

Syracuse over Army: It will take more than Chinese-style red hats to stop fullback Jim Nance.

Miami over Texas Christian: Two of the country's best quarterbacks, George Mira of Miami and Sonny Gibbs of TCU tangle with Mira getting the more help.

Michigan State over Stanford: The Stanford comeback is derailed temporarily by a Spartan aggregation whose starters are the equal of any in the country.

Penn State over Air Force: The Pennsylvanians have center Joe Galardi and halfback Al Gursky injured but they won't be missed as the Lions move on toward a sweep of the service academies.

Mississippi oved Kentucky: Jim Dunaway, Ole Miss tackle, is a living roadblock.

Georgia Tech over Florida: With Bill Lothridge doing the driving and Dave Watson directing the traffic up front, the Yellow Jackets are too much for the Gators.

Minnesota over Missouri: The Big Eight team surprised the Gophers, who went on to win the Rose Bowl game, a year ago. This time the element of surprise will be gone, but so is Sandy Stephens. However, Minnesota has enough left.

Alabama over Tulane: The Alabama defense is as tough as a dollar steak.

Washington over Illinois: The Huskies, like the New York baseball Yankees have an M-M combination. For Washington the names are Mitchell and Mansfield.

Texas over Texas Tech: Without trouble.

Southern California over Southern Methodist:. The Trojans learned how by spilling Duke last week.

Clemson over North Carolina State: Clemson has two quarterbacks and NC State no longer has Roman Gabriel.

Louisiana State over Rice: The Rice Owls spilled the Tigers last year but they can't do it two years in a row.

Bisons Seeking Major Tieup

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Bisons of the International Baseball League began hunting today for a major league organization with which to affiliate.

Two speedy stablemates from Norwich, N.Y. provide the big threat today for one of two prominent stake events which will highlight the opening day of the Lexington Trots.

Impish and Sprite Rodney, a pair of three-year-olds owned by the Eaton Ridge Farm, were the early favorites in the $16,000 Hanover Shoe Filly Stake for trotters. Seven other fillies are entered.

The $16,320 Walnut Hill Stud Trot will share the first-day spotlight at the Lexington, Ky. oval.

At New York State harness tracks Tuesday night:

Roosevelt — Federalist ($6.20) scored an impressive victory in a $3,600 Class A-3 pace in 2:02 4-5.

Batavia — Mr. Allerton Key ($10.80) trotted a 2:06 3-5 over a sloppy track to win a $2,100 Class B-2, B-1, A handicap event.

Saratoga—Washington Star ($2.-90) won his ninth straight by taking the $2,460 Hunter Pace for two-year-olds in 2:13 4-5 on a muddy track.

Sugar Ray Praised In Losing Fight

LONDON (AP) — British fight fans talked again today of the ring artistry of Sugar Ray Robinson and almost felt sorry that their own brash young Terry Downes had shattered the Sugar Man's latest comeback bid.

Downes, 26, former holder of part of the world middleweight title, scored an overwhelming victory over the veteran Robinson at London's Indoor Wembley Stadium Tuesday night, but most of the cheers were reserved for "his sugarship," as one headline writer called him.

The normally partisan London crowd gave Robinson a great ovation as he left the ring and local fans were today calling for a return fight between the two.

Robinson, weighed in at 159 pounds against Downes' 161 but it was the 16 years' age difference that really told.

Robinson started well but the non-stop Downes swarmed all over his man and pinned Sugar Ray to the ropes time after time.

Yesterday's Stars

BATTING — Mickey Mantle, Yankees, collected four singles and a walk in five at-bats, scoring twice and driving in two runs as New York clinched the American League pennant by beating Washington 8-3.

PITCHING — Warren Spahn, Braves, limited New York Mets to seven hits in 7-3 victory, posting the 326th triumph of his career and moving into a tie with Eddie Plank as the winningest left-hander in major league history.

Monticello Sets Attendance, Betting Marks in 5th Season

MONTICELLO — Monticello Raceway smashed records for pari-mutuel handle and attendance as a climax to its fifth and most successful season of harness racing.

Last Saturday marked the final night in a 101-date meeting at Monticello. The closing night throng numbered 7,582 and they wagered a brisk $486,838. The figures boosted Monticello's final attendance record to 552,688. The betting reached a record-breaking $30,448,521.

Both marks surpassed last season when 548,830 fans watched 89 cards. They wagered $27,852,286.

The average handle for the season just completed was $301,471 which was below the $312,947 record of 1961. The average crowd mark was also off. This season's average was 5,472 as compared to 6,167.

However, the per capita was up by about $5.00. This meeting's per capita betting was $55.09 as compared to $50.75 of '61.

On the racing end, Carmine Abbatiello emerged as the dash winning champion. The Freehold, N. J. driver piloted one winner on closing night to finish with 57 winning drives. Bill Popfinger wound up second with 39 wins with Dave Howard third with 34.

The final night feature was captured by Adios Ronnie. The event was for $10,000 and was billed as the Raceway's aged championship race. Ronnie, driven by Vernon Dancer, was clocked in 2:02.4, winning by three quarters of a length.

The trotting counterpart was annexed by Dark Sun in 2:06 on Friday. Billy Haughton drove Dark Sun to a two-length win.

28 Won Four

Board Members Consider Action On Equalization

Discussion of the lowering of the equalization rate for the Town of New Paltz from 14 to 13 was held at the town board meeting recently.

Peter Harp, town attorney, reported that the State Equalization Board had informed him that New Paltz has had its hearing. The board had requested a further hearing, feeling that since only five properties were used to determine the drop in rate it was not a true basis.

Harp said that he would look into the matter further. Supervisor Peter Savago suggested working with the school board to find a solution.

A special hearing was held prior to the regular meeting when the septic tank ordinace revision was adopted. This will bring it up to

Phone Raise Refused Margaretville Co.

The Public Service Commission at Albany today told Margaretville Telephone Company, Inc., that it cannot increase its rates by $1.00 monthly on October 1 as proposed by the utility.

A public hearing to determine what, if any, change in company rates should be allowed will be held at a time and place to be announced later.

Margaretville Telephone serves 1,360 stations in portions of Delaware and Ulster counties through dial exchanges at Andes and Margaretville. The latter was converted to dial operation last July.

In filing its new tariff, the company said it needed additional annual revenue totaling about $13,400 because of increased plant investment and anticipated higher operating costs.

Convict Dutchess Woman in Knife Slaying of Man

Convicted by a Dutchess County court jury of first degree manslaughter in the June 1 knife slaying of a 35-year-old Poughkeepsie man, Miss Lucille Nelson, 29, formerly of 124 Main Street, that city, will be sentenced Oct. 9.

Miss Nelson, who had been indicted on a second degree murder charge in the slaying of Nathaniel Cherry, in his lower Main Street apartment, Poughkeepsie, was convicted after the jury deliberated two hours and 45 minutes on Tuesday.

Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz denied defense motions to set aside the verdict as contrary to evidence. He ordered a pre-sentencing investigation by the probation department.

During the trial, Miss Nelson had pleaded self-defense stating she tried to protect herself from Cherry's violent outbursts.

Assistant District Attorney Eugene Frink, Pawling, prosecuted the case. James R. Brown Jr., Poughkeepsie attorney, was defense counsel.

$2,353,400 Sum In Refunds Gets Approval of PSC

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission approved today plans of seven Upstate gas utilities to grant refunds totaling $2,353,400 to approximately 750,000 customers.

The PSC said the latest cases raised to more than $5 million the total amount of refunds the agency had approved in the last two months.

Five of the companies involved in today's action will make the refunds in the form of bill credits over a 12-month period, and two will extend them over a 24-month period.

The companies are Niagara Mohawk Power Corp., Iroquois Gas Corp., Pennsylvania Gas Co. Inc., Empire Gas and Fuel Co. Ltd., Syracuse Suburban Gas Co. Inc., Fillmore Gas Co. Inc. and The Pavilion Natural Gas Co.

The refunds are a result of settlements of rate cases approved by Federal Power Commission. Under the settlements, wholesalers supplying natural gas by pipeline to the utilities are required to make rebates of excess charges, the PSC said.

The utilities, by law, must pass the rebates on to their customers.

The PSC gave this breakdown of the refunds:

Niagara Mohawk—Of the total refund of $1,690,110, Syracuse Suburban Gas will receive $29,000, general customers $1,438,503 and 140 industrial customers $222,536.

Iroquois Gas—A refund of $486,810 in addition to a refund of $1,200,000 approved earlier for about 362,000 customers in the Buffalo-Niagara Falls area.

Pennsylvania Gas—A refund of $15,172 added to a refund of $29,300 previously approved for its New York State customers in the Jamestown area. Pennsylvania Gas also has customers in Northwestern Pennsylvania.

Empire Gas—A refund of $114,154 to about 15,500 customers in Hornell and Wellsville and nearby sections of Steuben and Allegany counties.

Syracuse Suburban—The refund of $29,000 to about 2,500 customers in and near Syracuse over a 24-month period.

Fillmore Gas—A refund of $3,943 to about 600 customers in Fillmore and several towns in Allegany County.

Pavilion Natural Gas—A refund of $43,331 to about 7,900 customers in and near Avon, Geneseo, Leicester, LeRoy, Mt. Morris, Perry and Warsaw, over a 24-month period.

Accuse Local Man Of Diner Burglary

A 30-year-old Kingston man was taken into custody and accused of third degree burglary early today, after Ellenville police reportedly caught him in the Terminal Diner, North Main Street, Ellenville.

Assistant Chief Arthur Mantone and Patrolman Bernard Krystel were on Patrol at 3 a. m. when they discovered the side window of the diner smashed. Mantone said Krystel covered the window outside while he entered the diner and found the man identified as Ray DeLuca, who said he resides at 25 Crane Street, this city.

Mantone said the proprietor of the diner, Sol Tractenberg was notified and after checking cash register slips, told police $2.55 in nickles had been taken. Mantone said the money was found in DeLuca's pocket.

Entrance to the diner was gained by removing a side screen and smashing the window.

DeLuca, Mantone said, was held for arraignment before Ellenville Police Justice Frank Decker.

Mrs. Marie Stewart, president of District 11, New York State Nurses Association, has announced a program meeting for Tuesday, Oct. 8 at 8 p. m. in the Benedictine Hospital Nurses Auditorium.

Dr. Katherine R. Nelson, assistant professor of nursing education, Teachers College, Columbia University will lecture on "Individual Care for the Patient." Miss Nelson's experience and research have led her to propose ways of adapting nursing procedures to fit the individual patient rather than to follow a ritualized schedule in his care.

All registered professional nurses of Greene and Ulster counties are eligible for membership in District 11. Non-members and nurses from other counties will be welcome at the October meeting for a small registration fee. Mrs. Theresa Notarnicola of Catskill is district program chairman.

Bearsville Woman Hurt, Car Hits Wall

A Bearsville woman motorist was injured at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday when her 1951 car left the Wittenberg Road about a half mile west of Route 212 and crashed headon into a stone wall.

Kingston State Police reported Dorothy Varian, 67, of Bearsville, was driving from a driveway turning east when she swerved to avoid a westbound car. Her vehicle crashed into a stone wall after crossing the westbound lane, troopers said.

She was taken to Benedictine Hospital and admitted. She suffered a laceration of the lower lip. Troopers Robert Mackey and Vincent Tobia investigated.

Avoiding Dog Causes West Camp Road Block

Traffic on Route 9W in the vicinity of West Camp was blocked for about an hour Tuesday night, after a tractor-trailer jackknifed as the operator avoided hitting a dog.

Kingston State Police reported the truck was owned by Best Transport Co., Alsen, and operated by Nick Grennetti, of 232 Main Street, Saugerties. According to Trooper Robert Dabreau's report, Grennetti was driving north rounding a curve when a dog ran from the side of the highway into the path of the vehicle.

Grennetti, troopers said, slammed on the brakes and the tractor-trailer jackknifed. Traffic was blocked from 7 p. m. until the vehicle was moved about an hour later.

Contract Given For Saugerties Village Garage

The Cody Lumber Company of Malden was awarded the contract to furnish material for the roof of the Saugerties Village public works garage to be built at Canoe Hill. Sealed bids were opened at Monday night's meeting of the board of trustees. Two bids were received, one from Cartwright and Morrison of Holcomb for the amount of $4,285. This did not meet the specifications as advertised, and Cody's bid of $4,682 was accepted.

In another matter brought before the board and referred to Attorney Louis P. Francello for investigation was a lawsuit by Joan E. and Allan Coles of Esopus Avenue, Kingston. The claim filed by the law firm of Rusk, Rusk and Feeney of Kingston, asks for $50,000 for Mrs. Coles for injuries sustained on a slide at Seamon's Park June 19 of this year, due to negligence on the part of the village, and $7500 for Mr. Coles for loss of his wife's services due to the injury. A report of the injury was made in the village clerk's office at the time and the insurance company duly notified.

An offer by the Newburgh Savings Bank to deed the streets in the Knolls development to Saungerties was rejected in view of the fact that all streets had not been completely paved. The bank had assumed ownership of the unfinished development from Elbert and Clare S. Conaway approximately three years ago and is responsible for completion of the streets, water and sewer lines before they can be accepted by the village. The village clerk was directed to ask a representative of the bank to attend the next board meeting to be held on Monday night. Residents of The Knolls also may attend.

Another subject which came up for a lengthy discussion was a motion made by Trustee Frank Short for amending Article 4 of the Zoning Ordinance of the Village of Saugerties, drawn up in 1956. A public hearing was set for Nov. 5 in the village clerk's room for a discussion on the legal right for the zoning board of appeals to hear a case which comes under this article. A recent case cited was that of the VanSteenburgh fruit and vegetable stand on Burt Street which was denied by the zoning board. It was reported at Monday's meeting that according to the ordinance as it is now written the matter should not have been brought before the three man board for a decision but rather it was a decision which should have been made by the trustees. The amendment, if approved at the Nov. meeting, will make it legal for the zoning board to hear cases in the future and pass judgement on them.

The motion for the public hearing was approved by Trustees Frank Short, Elton Johnson, Sheldon Longendyke and Mayor George Holmes and disapproved by Cornelius Cox, Robert Moser and Howard Lezette.

A request from Acting Chief of Police Harold Mills to attend a meeting called by the Federal Bureau of Investigation on Oct. 3 at the Nevele Country Club for police chiefs of southern New York State was approved. Police Commissioner Frank Short will accompany Mills to the meeting, with expenses being paid by the village.

Commissioner Short also asked the board to approve the two new patrolmen, Leonard Robbins and William Johnson, as permanent members of the police force. They have each completed a six months probationary period. Approval was made by a unanimous vote.

Following a report of conjestion on McDonald Street due to parking on both sides of the street, the board directed that No Parking signs be placed on the right side of the street from South Partition Street to Montgomery Street for a trial period of 30 days.

Columbia Couple, Man Arraigned In Extortion Case

A Columbia County couple and another man waived preliminary hearing Tuesday before Justice of the Peace Gustav Brenke, of Livingston, when arraigned on charges of extortion.

Robert H. Wadman, 31, and his wife, Esther, of Copake Lake, were released in bail of $500. Richard Finkle, also of Copake Lake, was released in his own custody pending grand jury action.

According to State Police, the extortion plan involved a Hudson businessman. Police said a meeting was arranged for Monday night with the unidentified businessman, who reportedly drove to the scene with another man and carried $400 in currency.

In compliance with instructions from BCI Investigator William Wolfe, the money was arranged serially. The camplainant said he agreed to pay $1,000 to the couple, $400 at the first meeting and $600 later.

Troopers reportedly took the alleged extortionists in custody 500 feet from the scene of the payoff. Investigator Wolfe said the money, in serial order, was found in possession of Mrs. Wadman.
